SACRAMENTO, July 10.—A request will be made by Governor William D. Stephens to the Congressional immigration and naturalization committee, which is in California to investigate the Japanese problem, that the committee visit Hawaii after completing its investigation in the state, to get first-hand information as to the overrunning of the islands by the Japanese.

This announcement was made today by Governor Stephens, who declared he will make his request to the Congressional committee when it holds its first public meeting in the Senate chamber at the Capitol next Tuesday morning.

STEPHENS TO URGE TRIP TO HAWAII.

"I have determined to make an earnest request to the congressional immigration and naturalization committee that, after examining conditions in California and obtaining a complete understanding and appreciation of the situation confronting the state, it visit Hawaii, so it may return to Washington with first hand information of conditions. I am desirous that the committee members go to Hawaii and see with their own eyes the development of conditions against which California wants to guard.

"The Hawaiian Islands—American territory—is being conquered by the Japanese without opposition, I am informed, and it is California's plea to the nation that this state shall not be conquered as Hawaii is being conquered by a foreign race

WANTS EASTERNERS, SOUTHERNERS, TO GO.

"It is particularly desired that the eastern and southern members of the committee go to Hawaii in the event the entire committee cannot visit the islands.

"It is my hope that each member of the committee will become thoroughly aroused to the immediate need of action, and will become zealous advocates of California's cause to the end that the national government shall enact legislation to remedy the present grave conditions."

Elks Plan Search for Dennis Keane

BERKELEY, July 10.—Searching parties have been organized and early tomorrow morning will set out to scour the Berkeley hills and other portions of the Eastbay district for the body of Dennis J. Keane, well-known yachtsman and sportsman, who dropped from sight Sunday last.

The searching parties will be composed of members of the Berkeley Lodge of Elks of which Keane was a member. Many of Keane's friends will join. J. C. Hedermark of the Elks and a personal friend of Keane, will direct the search.

It was thought at first that Keane had been the victim of foul play by someone with a motive of robbery. It is now feared he slipped away to some secluded spot in the hills in an effort to seek relief from a long illness, and there either died of natural causes or committed suicide.

Burglar Put To Flight by 11 Year Girl

Little Cherry Follet Dares Danger and Fear to Give Alarm.

To be all alone in a big house and to be only 11 years old, and then to hear a strange noise in an upstairs bedroom, is enough to frighten the average little girl into crying or to cause her to flee in terror. But 11-year-old Cherry Follett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J Follett of 120 Eleventh street, did just the opposite

Cherry stopped at the foot of the stairs that led to the rooms above from which had come the noise. She knew perfectly well that there should be no one in the house but herself. Bravely she mounted the stairs and pretended to be going to the bathroom. She walked down the hall where she could see into the various rooms She heard the strange noise again as she passed the room of Clarence Bickell, a roomer. She pushed open the door and looked in There, bending over a pile of loot he had gathered up in Bickell's room, stood a stranger. There was nothing about the man to indicate that he was a burglar, but something seemed to tell Cherry that he was

"I know who you are," said the brave child. "You're a burglar I'm going to tell my mamma and call the police."

She fled down the back stairs, but before she had reached the street the burglar had fled down the front way with the suitcase.

Mrs Follett, the girl's mother, was coming from downtown and saw the man leave the house. She thought little of it just then, she said, thinking that it was possibly someone looking for a room.

"A burglar is in the house, mamma," said Cherry as she came running around the house "I saw him taking things from Mr. Bickell's room."

By the time help had been summoned the burglar was blocks away. The loss was about $50.

Pretty Girl of 17 Confesses Burglary

At seventeen, when other girls are planning party dresses, picnics, and hiking excursions, Lillian Gale is waiting in the detention home in Oakland where, according to the police, she has confessed to burglary and shoplifting.

Lillian is fashionably dressed and pretty. It is no handicap in appearance that has got her into trouble.

The girl, arrested after she had been detected in stealing from the Capwell store, is charged also with the looting of the home of Mrs. May B Kilgo, 2156 Twenty-first street, of checks, cash and diamonds valued at $500. She is said to have been employed by Mrs Kilgo at one time.

It was on Thursday that a detective in Capwell's store saw the girl attempting to charge things to the account of another woman. She got away from him and made her escape, as they do in motion pictures, down a fire escape. Yesterday at her home, 956 Forty-sixth street, she was arrested. Because a check taken from the Kilgo home was endorsed and cashed the police say that they can prosecute the girl for forgery.

Lillian Gale was Lillian Markley when she was a ward of the Associated Charities and was given employment by Mrs. Kilgo. She married Edwin Gale, a soldier now in Portland.

Speeder Gets Parole To Enjoy Birthday

BERKELEY, July 10. — When Charles Jackson, shipyard worker, residing at 1068 Sixty-fifth street, Oakland, appeared before Judge Robert Edgar this morning on a charge of driving his motorcycle 45 miles an hour through the city, he entered a plea of guilty and said:

"But, Judge, I want to ask a favor before you sentence me. Please continue the case for sentence until Tuesday to give me a chance to celebrate my twenty-first birthday on Monday. Judge, I got a lot of pretty girls invited to the party and a lot of fellows and—well, I can't very well afford to miss celebrating it. Gee, Judge; can't you fix it up for me? I'll take my medicine like a man when it comes."

The matter was continued until Tuesday morning when sentence will be passed.

DEATH PLOT 'STRANGER' IS RICH YOUTH

Former Army Officer Ordered Held to Grand Jury On Two Charges of Murder; Says He Killed Young Bride

Al Watson, Son of Wealthy New York Turfman, Was "Ragged Stranger" Slain; Was An Overesas Canadian

CHICAGO, July 10.—Carl Wanderer, former army lieutenant, has confessed that he had deliberately planned and executed the murder of his pretty young wife, Mrs. Ruth Wanderer, and the ragged stranger in the vestibule leading to their apartment at 4732 North Campbell avenue on the night of June 21.

Wanderer was ordered held to the grand jury on two charges of murder today by the coroner's jury.

According to identification established the "ragged stranger" killed by Lieutenant Wanderer was Al Watson, former overseas soldier in the Canadian expeditionary forces, and the son of a wealthy New York turfman.

He was tired of his wife, he told State's Attorney Hoyne calmly, and longed to get rid of her so he could return to the "free and easy life" in the army. Then too, he said, she had $1500, which he wanted.

The confession came at the close of a sixteen-hour grilling, which opened yesterday morning at 2 a. m., when Detective Sergeant Michael Grady entered his cell at Detention Home No. 1. State's Attorney Hoyne, Coroner Hoffman and Lieutenant Michael Loftis were among the score of persons who questioned him ceaselessly until the suspect made a clean breast of his crime shortly after 6 p m

WANTED TO RETURN TO "EASY LIFE."

When he had finished he left only one point in doubt, the identity of the poorly dressed tramp whom he had hired from the street to "frame" a holdup, which was to be his excuse for killing both his aid and the bride of a year, who was 21 years old. The wife had been busy making clothes for a baby who was expected within a month.

Night was falling and dusk shadowed State's Attorney Hoyne's private office when the man decided to "come clean."

"Let me clean up and I'll tell you everything," he said. Secretary George T Kenny ran for a toothbrush, tooth paste and a safety razor Wanderer washed and shaved calmly.

Then he seated himself before the state's attorney, his aides, a stenographer, and the police, and told then the following:

"I shot my wife. Then I shot the bum because I was afraid he would squeal. I did it because I was tired of her. I wanted to go back to the free and easy life of the army. I wanted to get the dough she had, so I figured it all out and planned to make it look like a robbery.

"Monday afternoon I went downtown to buy some butcher knives for my father's shop When I got them I went over on West Madison street, near the Midcity bank at Halsted street. There I found the bum. I asked him if he wanted to earn some money easy and he did. I let on I wanted him to drive an automobile. I told him to meet me at 7 o'clock at Lincoln and Lawrence avenues.

TOLD WIFE TO DRAW MONEY.

"The Saturday before I had told my wife to draw the money out of the bank so we could buy a house. I wanted to get it where I could lay my hands on it. She had brought it home and put it in the bureau drawer.

"So Monday night I met the bum at Lincoln and Lawrence. I told him I wanted him to help me frame a robbery and said he should wait on the corner for me and I would show up at 9. I went home and had supper, put both automatics in my pockets, and took Ruth to the Pershing theater, near Lincoln and Lawrence.

"The picture was the "Sea Wolf." We didn't have time to see it because we didn't get in until after 8 o'clock and we left at about 9. The bum was waiting for us when we left the place. He followed us home, just as I had instructed.

"When we walked into the vestibule he stepped up to me and said, 'Hand over that money! Just as I told him. I drew my gun and shot her first——"

Here for the first time the man showed emotion. He cleared his throat, passed his hand over his freshly shaved chin and continued:

"I shot her and she fell. Then I shot him three times. I was afraid he would still be alive to talk when the police arrived, so I beat his head on the marble floor so he would be unconscious. Then the police came and I went over to the North Robey street station and told the story just as I had planned it."

DISCOVERY OF MONEY DIRECTS SUSPICION.

Wanderer said he had forgotten all about the $1500 in the excitement following the murder, and because of this his mother-in-law, Mrs. Charles Johnson, with whom he and his murdered wife lived, found it in the bureau drawer.

It was the discovery of the money which, in a measure, caused the police to suspect the former army officer. It led to the theory that he engineered the murder to get possession of the cash, or that the slain stranger had come to the doorstep of the Wanderer home to blackmail the wife.

The slip which caused the slayer's downfall was a detail following the actual murder that he had apparently not planned closely enough. It was the numerals on an automatic pistol borrowed from his cousin, Fred Wanderer, because he thought it could not be traced as easily as his own weapon, an army gun.

Butchers Want $50 a Week and Threaten Strike

Men Willing to Arbitrate, But Employers Silent, Says Secretary.

That the members of Butchers' Union 120 will strike in the near future, following the refusal of the employing butchers of Alameda county to recognize the union's demands or arbitrate, was the statement given out today by J W Corbett, secretary-treasurer of the union

A meeting was held last night, according to Corbett, but no offer of arbitration was made by the employing butchers At a meeting of the members of the butchers' union on July 6 a strike vote was taken by secret ballot. Practically the entire membership of the union attended the meeting, with sixteen voting against the motion to strike, says Corbett.

Corbett declared that the employees were willing to arbitrate and would be glad to come to any kind of an understanding that would bring about a fair wage.

"We are not asking for less hours," he said "We have asked for a minimum of $50 weekly The present minimum is $38. We did not expect to get the $50 when we made our demands, but expected to reach a wage scale by arbitration"

Today's session was given over largely to keynoting and organization Allen M. McCurdy of New York City, temporary chairman, condemned Republican and Democratic platforms and candidates.

The convention was delayed an hour in starting by conferences of representatives of the Committee, Labor party, Non-Partisan league, Single Tax party, Triple Alliance of the Northwest and several other organizations which are negotiating with the third party combination.

SINGLE TAX FOLK WANT THEIR PLANKS

Before adjourning to attend the convention of the Committee of Forty-Eight, the Single Tax delegates took a definite stand as to the grounds on which they could join the new group. Sinn Feiners In Fight With British Soldiers

Government Mail Train Held Up; Troops Occupy Cork Courthouse.

LONDON, July 10.—A clash between Sinn Feiners and British soldiers took place in the streets of Londonderry today, said an Exchange Telegraph despatch from that city The trouble started when the Sinn Feiners attacked a detachment of troops Reinforcements of soldiers were rushed up and the Sinn Feiners were dispersed.

DUBLIN, July 10.—A government mail train was held up at Rathpecon today and government correspondence taken Another mail train was held up on the Cork-Marcoom line.

Military activity has greatly increased here and fifteen lorry loads of troops are on guard outside the Bank of Ireland

The court house at Cork was occupied by British troops today Barbed wire entanglements were erected around the building.

Evidence is piling up here which seemingly would indicate that the newly organized Sinn Fein courts rapidly are superseding in power the crown tribunals. A great number of cases on appeal are being withdrawn from the crown supreme court because it is stated that the litigants have little confidence in the power of that court. For the same reason it is alleged that Unionists are appealing to the Sinn Fein lower courts. One Unionist attorney is credited with saying that it was useless to take a case before the crown court, and that as his client desired quick action he took the case to a Sinn Fein tribunal

In many parts of the provinces Sinn Feiners have taken over control of liquor selling and have issued orders to saloons regarding the hours of closing. Sinn Fein pickets have been effective in stopping Sunday drinking by checking up bona fide travelers, who are entitled under the law, to drink. The policy of serving drinks on Sunday hitherto has been spasmodic. Now it has been made regular by a code issued to license holders by which they may do business only from 8 a. m. until 9 p. m., and which prohibits the selling of liquors on Sundays or church holidays.

BAVARIA TO STAY ARMED, ALLIES TOLD

Germany's Signing the Allies' Disarmament Protocol At Spa Does Not Change Decision of Teuton Ministers

Lloyd George Notifies German Delegation It Must Recognize Right of Allies to Priority Coal Deliveries

By FRANK MASON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 10.—The Bavarian government has officially announced that it will not disarm its troops, notwithstanding the action of the German delegates in signing the allies' disarmament protocol at Spa, according to information from Munich today. Bavarian ministers were quoted as saying that "their recent decision not to disarm the Einwohnerwehr and the Seicherheitswehr is unchangeable."

The acceptance of the allies' disarmament terms by the Germans at Spa has been under consideration at a series of conferences of ministers and national assembly leaders since noon yesterday.

ALLIES PLAYING DANGEROUS GAME

"The allies are playing a dangerous game", said the Tageblatte in commenting upon the results of the Spa conference. "If disarmament is successfully carried out the allies will have obligated themselves before the world to give strong industrial assistance to Germany.

If a catastrophe comes to Germany the allies will be forever blighted in their roles as judges and directors of European affairs."

COAL DELIVERIES FIRST ON PROGRAM

By CARL D. GROAT
United Press Staff Correspondent

SPA, Belgium, July 10.—With the disarmament question finally disposed of by Germany's acceptance of the allies' ultimatum ordering the treaty terms fulfilled within six months, the matter of coal deliveries stood first on the program of the conference between allied and German representatives today.

Lloyd George has notified the German delegation that Germany must recognize the right of the allies to priority in deliveries of coal. Germany must consent to establishment of a permanent allied coal commission which will function at Berlin to keep track of all coal movements to Germany

FRANCE DEMANDS RIGHT OF PRIORITY

Premier Millerand declared that up to June 1 Germany had delivered only 51 per cent of the coal required under the peace treaty. The French premier declared France must have priority up to the amount fixed by the reparations commission

With regard to trial of Germans guilty of war crimes, the German delegations said no arrests had been made as yet.

German strategy apparently will be concession of all points on armaments, war criminals and coal, but to make a stiff fight over reparations. The latter was expected to come up for discussion at today's session.

It was not believed the conference would be able to settle the Belgian and Polish proportions at today's conference. At Monday's session these will be discussed further and the Russian and Polish problems threshed out.

REVERSE CONVICTION

NEW YORK, July 10.—The Appellate division of the State Supreme Court today unanimously reversed the conviction of Clinton T. Brainard, president of Harper & Brothers, and the company, for "unlawfully possessing an obscene book." The information against the defendants was filed by the Society for the Suppression of Vice.

CONVENTION TO LAUNCH THIRD PARTY STARTS

and a common candidate," he said. "But we do not depend upon any single candidate."

At the conclusion of his brief speech, Hopkins turned the gavel over to McCurdy.

McCurdy drew prolonged applause when he declared there was "a large difference between the deeds and acts of the present administration." Mention of the name of Attorney-General Palmer drew hisses and boos from every direction.

At the conclusion of McCurdy's address there was a demonstration of some length, which ended with a march of the entire hall, headed by the single tax group. The convention immediately began the work of permanently organizing, a recess of 15 minutes being taken to permit state delegations to make committee selections.

The convention was to adjourn today to Monday, when the Labor Party convention also will assemble, but separately. Representatives of the Labor Party and Non-Partisan League conferred last night and the Labor Party met this morning with the Committee of Forty-eight.

Difficulties between the programs of the Committee of Forty-eight and the Labor Party remain acute where they touch on railroads, leaders of both groups said today. Both stand for government ownership, but differ as to the amount of "Democratic management" which would attach to the transportation systems if taken over.

FARMERS ARE NOT OFFICIALLY PRESENT

Non-Partisan League representatives, reported to have pledged the aid in organizing the farmers of the Northwest behind the new party, announced today that they were attending the conferences in a "personal capacity" only.

The Labor Party is insisting that the word "Labor" must be preserved in any party name adopted.

The Single Taxers faced a division in their own ranks. The announcement made by some officials that the Single Tax delegates would bolt the combine if Senator LaFollette was the presidential nominee was followed by a declaration from some delegates that they would stick to the new party regardless of the nominee.

FORD'S WEEKLY TO TAKE STAND FOR THIRD PARTY

DETROIT, Mich., July 10.—In a scathing denunciation of the Republican and Democratic candidates for the Presidency and of the platforms adopted by the two old parties, the Dearborn Independent, for July 17, will declare the support of Henry Ford's weekly for a third party movement, it was learned her today. The editorial declaration will not mention the possible candidacy of Henry Ford on a third party ticket.

The name of Ford will be formally placed before the convention in Chicago for the Presidential nomination, Charles F. Hoffman of Grand Rapids declared today, according to a message from Chicago. Hoffman declared he had Ford's assurance that he would accept the nomination.

LABORITES AND TAX GROUPS ORGANIZE

CHICAGO, July 10.—Max Hays, of Cleveland, was today selected as temporary chairman of the National Labor Party convention, to be held here beginning tomorrow. John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, is to deliver the key-note speech.

One delegate from each State represented was appointed to the Committee of Forty-Eight platform committee.

Frank P. Walsh and Eugene V. Debs were named at party headquarters as certain to be placed in nomination for the presidency.

At the Single Tax convention, in the Auditorium hotel, Robert C. Macauley of Philadelphia was named temporary chairman, and made his opening address before the convention adjourned for conferences.

James C. Reis of Philadelphia, spokesman for the party, declared the single tax leaders had declared themselves unalterably opposed to Senator LaFollette as a presidential candidate.

"Two men on either of whom we could agree are Amos Pinchot and Charles Ingersoll, both of whom are single taxers," he said. "Our choice for the vice-presidency is former Mayor Fagin of Jersey City."

Committee of 48'er Holds Old Parties Are "Only Two Wings of Same Bird of Prey"

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, July 10.—The Republican and Democratic parties were denounced as "the right and left wing of the same bird of prey" at the opening of a proposed "third party" national convention here today.

Sounding the keynote of the assemblage called together by the Committee of Forty-eight to adopt a platform and place in the field another set of candidates for presidency and vice presidency, Allen McCurdy, national chairman, charged that the two big parties had evaded paramount domestic issues at a time when what the country needs is "fewer laws and more freedom."

The abolition of special privilege, McCurdy said, was the issue around which the new party would appeal to the voters in November. He said the party purposed effecting that end through removing the sources from which privilege derives its power.

"To accomplish this purpose," he declared, "it proposes public ownership of transportation and of the principal basic resources of the country and declares that all land held out of use for speculation should be forced into use by taxation."

SEES NO DIFFERENCE BETWEEN OLD PARTIES

"Consider the actual conditions under which we meet. After years of secret slavery, the Republican and the Democratic parties come into the open and reveal themselves to themselves and to the nation as nothing but the right wing and the left wing of the same bird of prey. It no longer is possible for anyone even to pretend that there is any difference on any issue between them. There is not a word in either of their platforms that might not have been written and unanimously endorsed by a convention exclusively composed of corporation lawyers and Wall Street bankers.

"The only difference between these platforms, as someone has remarked, is a difference in the number of words used to say nothing. Confronted by the gravest crisis in the history of civilization, they have demonstrated, even to their own adherents, that they are without the vision of statesmanship, the courage of leadership, or the conviction of patriotism.

HARDING CALLED PUPIL OF HANNA

"The Republican bid is bold. It reads out of its councils every man and woman who ever stood for any form of human rights, adopts a platform that evades, equivocates or straddles every living issue; paves the way for a war by which, in exchange for the lives and treasures of the people, Mexican oil shall be delivered to the interests; endorses the infamous Esch-Cummins bill over the protests of farmers, workers and informed citizens, and consistently crowns its work by nominating as candidate for the presidency of the United States in the year 1920, a proven, steady, wheel-horse politician, guaranteed to stand without hitching, who learned all the politics he ever learned in the satisfactory and thorough school of Marcus A. Hanna and Joseph B. Foraker way back in the golden age, marked by the standard oil scandals. Thus stands the party of Abraham Lincoln in the last days of its decadent faithlessness, naked and unashamed in its servile service of a greedy plutocracy.

"The Democratic bid is more than bold; it is brazen. With mild reservations, it not only claims a partisan credit, which belongs to the whole nation, for fighting and winning the war, but it declares that it administered the conduct of that war without the taint of scandal.

PROFITEERING IN WAR LAID TO DEMOCRATS

"And the ghosts of Hog Island, and aircraft and shipbuilding and cantonment construction, and nitrate plant appropriations are still stalking throughout the land. Scandal! Is it no scandal that in the year 1917, the year of supreme sacrifice when our boys were fighting and dying for $30 a month, and our people were economizing and sacrificing to buy Liberty Bonds, that the United States Steel Corporation made net earnings of $888,931,611, or twenty million dollars more than its total capital stock.

"What can we call that orgy of war profiteering by a set of the most unscrupulous scoundrels who ever fattened out of the necessities and the miseries of a great nation at war? Shall we acknowledge that scandal is too light a word and say with Senator Capper: 'If this be not grand larceny in day time, I do not know what else we should call it.' Even so the scandal remains, for such profiteering was never prosecuted by the persecuting attorney general.

"Nor is this all. There are some crimes which by their sheer effrontery become sublime. Failure to protect a people against profiteering in time of war might be forgiven, but to break the faith of a whole nation cannot be forgiven.

"The Republican party would lead us back to the bondage of Marcus Hanna. Not to be outbid, the Democratic party, through its endorsement of the administration of A. Mitchell Palmer, would lead us back to the days of Philip II of Spain; Charles I of England, the unspeakable Metternich of Austria, and couse their inquisitions, secret police, spies, espionage, agents provocateur, star chamber proceedings, arrests without warrants private prisons, illegal detentions and administrative justice to supplant the methods provided by the bill of rights which has been the bulwark of Anglo-Saxon freedom for nine centuries. To such depths of will and performance has the party of Thomas Jefferson descended.

IF EITHER WINS, THEN PEOPLE LOSE, HE SAYS

"Such are the conditions under which we are in convention assembled. This whole country is shocked by the action of these two major parties. The truth is out at last. Both parties have surrendered unconditionally to privilege and reaction. Thousands are agreed with us today for every one who agreed with us in January. The vast majority of the electorate realize that no matter whether the Republican or the Democratic party wins, the people lose. The necessity for the abolition of privilege was never so imperative as it is today.

"Therefore, the platform which is submitted as the basis of the deliberations of this convention has a most serious claim to our consideration. Not only is it a short platform, but it is single-minded in its devotion to one determination. It declares that the principal cause of the distress of this people is economic in its nature and can be removed only by economic action. Every word in it says the same thing: Abolish economic privilege.

"A government controlled by privilege can twist any political reform to its own uses. Political reforms must wait until the abuses of privilege are destroyed by the abolition of privilege.

"PRIVILEGE" MUST GO KEYNOTE OF SPEECH

"By destroying monopoly in transportation and the basic industries, all private industries would be placed beyond the possibility of state control. The ensuing campaign would revive the confidence of this entire people in political action directed against economic power. Faith in the ballot would return. Principles, not men, would dominate a national campaign.

"To raise the cry: to summon the people is our solemn responsibility and our sacred duty. Can we do it? Can we come together ourselves? We can and we will and if throughout all our deliberations we maintain our conviction that what America needs today is not more laws but more liberty; and that given freedom [illegible] safely be trusted to work out their own salvation. That freedom, let us insist first, last, midst and without end can only be given to the American people by the abolition of economic privilege."

THREE PARAGRAPHS IN THE PLATFORM

Adoption of a platform of three paragraphs, on which labor, nonpartisans and sympathizers with the "middle class" union can agree was to be the first task of the convention today.

The platform to be used by the resolutions committee as a basis for its work was one adopted by the Committee of Forty-eight last December, when it held its first convention in St. Louis. It advocates public ownership of transportation facilities and certain other public utilities, taxation to force idle land into use and the abolition of special privilege.

"It is our hope that labor, including farmers and other divisions of the laboring classes, will find in the new party's platform a common sense ideal which they can support wholeheartedly at the polls," said J. A. H. Hopkins, chairman of the Committee of Forty-eight.

"The full success of what we are trying to accomplish would include our getting the support of organized labor, sympathizers of the single tax, the Non-Partisan League and the bulk of the independent voters of the country who are dissatisfied with the evasion of responsibility which the Republican and Democratic parties have revealed in their platforms.

VICE-PRESIDENT CABINETEER IF HARDING WINS

MARION, Ohio, July 10.—Another busy day faced Senator Harding, Republican presidential nominee, today when he reached his office. In addition to continuing work on his speech, the nominee was to confer with Major General Leonard Wood and Senator Cummins of Iowa, who were scheduled to reach Marion late today. This will be the first time Senator Harding and the general have met.

Senator Harding announced today that if he is elected president the vice-president would be invited to participate in all cabinet meetings.

"Senator Harding believes," the statement said, "that the country would profit greatly through this participation. It not only would elevate the office, but would give to the president the sound advice and able assistance of his chief partner."

Plans for officially notifying Harding of his nomination were announced yesterday following a conference between the nominee and T. Coleman Du Pont of Delaware, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the Republican national committee, and Harry M. Daugherty of Columbus, the senator's manager in the pre-convention campaign.

The event will take place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of July 22 in Garfield park, Marion, with National Chairman Hays presiding. Senator Lodge, chairman of the notification committee, will deliver an address, to which the nominee will reply.

Announcement was made that meetings of the Republican national committee and the committee on arrangements are to be held in Columbus on July 21.

HARTFORD, Conn., July 10.—The program for the official notification of Governor Calvin Coolidge of his nomination for the vice-presidency was arranged at a meeting of members of the Republican national committee and the Coolidge home committee at Northampton, Mass., Friday, J. Henry Roraback of Connecticut, chairman of the committee arranging for the notification, announces that L. Clark Seeley, president emeritus of Smith college, will preside, and the address of notification will be made by William Allen White of Kansas, chairman of the committee on notification.

No formal invitations to the ceremony will be issued. The ceremony will take place on Allen field, Smith college, on July 27. A luncheon to members of the notification committee and the Republican national committee and their families will be given by Coolidge.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, concluded his conference with middle west leaders in Chicago today and left for Marion, Ohio. He will go east from Marion, returning there July 22, the day set for the notification.

TEACHERS FIGHT 'DELEGATE PLAN'

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 10.—With the holding of two sessions by subordinates bodies, the last activities connected with the annual meeting of the National Educational Association ended here today. Delegates have been leaving steadily since yesterday afternoon.

Officials of the American teachers' federation today made public a statement denying that they had taken any part in the convention or had sought to block the reorganization plan, carried through yesterday. Earlier this week many rumors were current to the effect that representatives of this body had opposed the reorganization.

With election by the new directors of the National Educational Association yesterday of Miss Olive M. Jones as member of the board of trustees, the plans framed by leaders of the association were accomplished. Miss Jones is president of the New York State Principals' Association. Concession of her election, it was said earlier this week, was one factor in obtaining the vote of women members for Fred M. Hunter of Oakland as president of the association.

Miss Cornelia S. Adair of Richmond, Va., was chosen treasurer, and twelve vice-presidents and forty-eight state directors were elected at today's business meeting. The directors, at their first meeting this afternoon, voted a preference for Philadelphia as the next meeting place, 24 to 17, over Des Moines. Philadelphia carried on almost no outward campaign. The executive committee will decide which of the two cities shall entertain the 1921 convention after visiting both places.

The directors also elected T. E. Finnegan, Pennsylvania state superintendent of schools, as member of the executive committee.

Yesterday's business meeting was the scene of a bitter and prolonged fight against the plan to reorganize on a "delegate plan," which eventually carried by a heavy vote. Miss Margaret Haley of Chicago led the opposition to the plan and D. R. Christensen, formerly superintendent of the Salt Lake City schools, gave her what she characterized as "important" aid. Christensen called the arrangements made at yesterday's meeting of Utah teachers an attempt to use a "steam roller." The Utahans had pledged themselves to vote solidly for the reorganization plan. Miss Sarah Fahey of New York City said the methods used in securing this vote were "unfair."

Without favoring her arguments in any way, David L. McKay of Ogden, commissioner of schools for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, several times obtained for Miss Haley an extension of the five-minute time allotted each speaker. He did this, he said, in the interest of a "fair deal."

UNDER EYE OF NATIONAL POLITICAL SPOTLIGHT

J. Frank Hanly, prohibition candidate for President in 1916, and former Indiana governor, called on Senator Harding at Marion, O., yesterday. He said he would find it difficult to support Governor Cox and announced he would not attend the National Prohibition Convention to be held in Lincoln, Neb., July 21, adding he opposed placing a National Prohibition ticket in the field this fall.

Major Genreal Leonard Wood was to reach Marion, O., today for a conference, while Senator Cummins, Republican, of Iowa, also expected to come here. Will H. Hays will not reach there until Sunday.

W. W. Blain, president of the Corn Palace, Mitchell, S. D., headed a delegation that called on Governor Cox at Dayton, O., urging him to accept an invitation to speak at the festival September 27. Charles F. Morris, the governor's private secretary, telegraphed from San Francisco that he was being besieged by California delegations urging that the campaign be opened in that state. Morris told the governor that California Democrats are certain that they can carry the state for him.

The Democratic nominees, Governor Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt, will meet at Columbus shortly after noon, Monday. Governor Cox today received a telegram saying that Roosevelt was leaving St. Louis Sunday afternoon. The meeting will be held in the governor's room at the State house. Cox expects to go to Columbus late Sunday.

Appointment of Senator Harry S. New, Indiana, to head the Republican speakers' bureau, was announced at Chicago today by Chairman Hays. He will be assisted by Representative Thomas A. Miller of Delaware, in charge of New York headquarters, and Representative J. W. Good of Iowa, in charge of Chicago headquarters. New will be stationed in Chicago.

Announcement was made today that the first "front porch" delegation to go to Marion, Ohio, to greet Senator Harding will be the Richland County Harding and Coolidge club of Mansfield, which will be received here on July 31.

DONT EVER MARRY AT THE T. & D.

ALBANY TO JOIN WITH BERKELEY FOR HOSPITAL

BERKELEY, July 10.—With the city of Albany and the unincorporated areas to the north of Berkeley joining in the campaign to secure adequate emergency hospital service, added requests are expected to reach to the board of supervisors for the establishment of a branch of the county emergency hospital in Berkeley.

Albany, which under the new census shows a population of 2461, is not provided for in any way by the county. Accident victims in Albany are treated at Roosevelt hospital through the courtesy of the city of Berkeley.

In urging a branch county hospital in Berkeley, Councilman Charles D. Heywood, commissioner of public health and safety, says:

"There has been a good deal of controversy in the newspapers within the last week regarding the emergency hospital service in Berkeley. The city of Berkeley is now paying $150 per month for the emergency service. We cannot expect much for this amount of money. The board of health, consisting of Dr. Hector, Dr. Boone, Dr. Peck and Dr. Pape, patriotically give their services free of charge to the city of Berkeley on these emergency cases, but, necessarily, when they are on private work and an emergency of some kind happens, much delay is caused in obtaining a doctor and often it takes from twenty or thirty minutes to obtain a doctor.

"I feel that the County of Alameda should help us in this matter and establish a branch emergency hospital in the city of Berkeley. The county now maintains an emergency hospital in the hall of records, which is five miles distant. We pay a large amount of money in taxes to the county of Alameda and we feel that we are justified in asking for this service from the county.

"There is also lying to the north of Berkeley the large territory of Albany. Thousands Oaks and Cragmont, to which the county owes this service. The city would be willing, I am sure, to stand its part of the burden. It owns a house now situated on the city hall grounds, which it rents for $20 per month. It seems to me that this house could be altered and fitted up in a very satisfactory manner and would make an ideal branch county emergency hospital."

She had, she said, confidence that the electors had trusted her, but believed it due them to "know all the facts."

"It is a painful duty to revive these old troubles and sorrows," she said, "but there are indications that certain influences which often lead to corruption in politics, are trying to undermine my position."

A resolution unanimously condemning the newspaper attack, assured Lady Astor of the electors' "unbounded esteem and confidence."

WORLD POLICY OF JEWS IS DETAILED

Jews, Protestants and Catholics should cast aside religious prejudices and unite in time of peace as they united during the war for the service of all humanity, declared Governor Charles Brough of Arkansas, speaking to 250 pjeople at Covenant hall under the auspices of the American Jewish Relief Federation to aid starving European children.

History shows that Jewish financiers were responsible for the discovery of American by Columbus and the landing of the Mayflower from England, Brough asserted.

"The United States and Argentine are the only two countries in the world that sell more than they buy," said Governor Brough.

"In ten years the Pacific Coast will control the commerce of the Orient."

Brough said that President Wilson had the combined qualities of Washington, Lincoln, Hamilton, McKinley and the courage of Andrew Jackson. He pointed out that the Jewish young men in the army numbered 260,000, instead of 120,000, their normal quota.

Suit for divorce has been brought by the wife of Robert Walters, shipyard worker, charging among other things, that her husband has humiliated her by false accusations and that he has neglected to provide for her as his wife for the past year. Mrs. Walters, in her complaint, alleges that her husband tried to persuade a man, known to her as Bunch, to try to compromise her. The complaint further charges that Walters was arrested on a charge of molesting young women on the street in July, 1919, and that when he brought suit for divorce last year the case was dismissed by the court when his charges were found to be untrue.

PETERSEN CASE TO HANG MONTH, IS OUTLOOK NOW

Developments today in the controversy over the position of chief in charge of the plain clothes division of the police department indicated that at least another months will elapse before Walter J. Petersen can take advantage of the decision of the District Court of Appeals last Tuesday granting a writ of mandate on Commissioner Morse to reinstate Petersen at the head of the inspectors' bureau.

The ruling will not become final until thirty days have expired, and, according to City Attorney Hagan, a similar period ensues in which application may be made for a re-hearing. Decision of two of the three Appellate justices is final and a dissenting opinion, as filed, does not call for an automatic re-hearing before the Supreme court.

City Attorney Hagan said today he had not had any instruction from Commissioner Morse regarding the preparation of an application for a re-hearing, but from the statement issued by Morse it is believed that that course will be followed.

The controversy took another turn yesterday as a result of the refusal of Captain Petersen to testify before Commissioner Morse in the investigation of the disappearance of narcotics from evidence of the police department, unless the hearing was to be open.

Additional feeling created by yesterday's incident killed the rumored possibility of a settlement of the issue without any further legal proceedings, it was said. It had been understood that a "get together" conference was planned by both sides to put an end to the long-standing fued.

VENUE CHANGE IN WATER SUIT, PLEA

MARTINEZ, July 10.—Superior Judge R. H. Latimer yesterday afternoon modified and amended the restraining order issued July 2 by Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie, at the instance of the town of Antioch which beginning at 8 a. m. Monday would have prevented rice growers from taking water from the Sacramento river. Now it will not become effective until further order of the court. Judge Latimer's action followed notification from Stanley Moore of San Francisco, on behalf of the Glenn Colusa irrigation district, one of the defendants, that a change of venue will be asked Monday when a hearing on Antioch's plea for a temporary injunction restraining the rice growers from taking water from the river will be heard.

His action, Judge Latimer declared, was taken so that if a change of venue is granted the Judge in whose court this action might fall would not be hampered by orders issued from his court. Moore does not ask that the case be transferred to any particular court and intimated he was willing to submit the new venue to the discretion of Judge Latimer, if ordered.

Moore contends that statutes provide that where an action is brought by a municipality it cannot be tried in the county in which the municipality is located.

Local attorneys, however, declare that if objections are entered by any of the other defendants to a venue change there is probably not a county in California that would be neutral, as either some defendants in the actions or persons interested in companies and irrigation districts named in the action reside in every county of the state.

Fire Ravages 4000 Acres of Dry Feed

LIVERMORE, July 10.—Two automobile loads of fire fighters, numbering fourteen men, went from here to Ingomar, Merced county, Thursday night, to help extinguish a big field fire on the stock range of Geo. Devaney, formerly of this place, but the fire was fought out just as they arrived early Friday morning, after it had burned over 4000 acres of dry feed. After patrolling the fire line to prevent its starting up again, the boys returned yesterday.

STEPHENS DENIES ANTI-SUFFRAGIST LIBEL ON STATE

SACRAMENTO, July 10.—Governor William D. Stephens today sent a telegram to Governor A. H. Roberts of Tennessee, protesting against the statement made in Knoxville by W. K. Anderson of the Assembly that woman suffrage would bring "coarseness" into politics. The telegram was sent at the request of Carrie Chapman Catt, suffrage leader. The telegram follows:

"Politics are cleaner, the government is better administered and the moral welfare of the people is far more intelligently and effectively promoted in California because of woman suffrage. Statements to the contrary are not justified by facts and results. Equal suffrage in California has justified itself in every way with no exceptions.

"It was carried by about 3000 in 1910 and it would carry now by 100,000, if voted upon by the men only. If voted upon by both men and women it would win by 200,000."

Anderson in a statement pointed to California as a degenerated state because of the establishment of woman suffrage here.

Three Sailors Held for Robbery, Wreck

VALLEJO, July 10.—Three sailors were arrested today as members of the party of five who robbed Albert Pameter, a chauffeur, of $57 Sunday night on the Sulphur Springs road, stole his machine from him and wrecked it about a mile further away. They are L. H. Blair, W. J. Wilson and Frank Willlby. The two other sailors are said to have deserted, having fled Mare Island in a boat. An identification tag and a revolver found in the wrecked machine led to the arrests today.

Palmer's Use of Money Is Outrage, Says Senator

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Howard Figg, special assistant to the attorney general, today denied the charges of Miss Olivia Brueggeman.

"Miss Brueggeman was discharged for inefficiency and disloyalty," Figg said.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 10.—In an effort to halt the expenditure of funds appropriated by congress, supposedly for the reduction of the high cost of living, because of alleged activities in behalf of Attorney General Palmer's campaign for the Democratic nomination for the presidency, Senator Kenyon, chairman of the "slush fund" investigating committee, departed for Washington today.

At the conclusion of the hearing today, Senator Kenyon said:

"The use of government organization and money designed to reduce the high cost of living for the furtherance of the personal aims of Attorney General Palmer is an outrage. There ought to be some way of handling such abuses aside from its exposure. I shall bend every effort when I get to Washington to stop the waste of the congressional appropriation. I shall protest at once to its use—and when congress meets again I am going to endeavor to have the appropriation repealed."

The senate committee adjourned the hearing after recalling to the stand Miss Olivia Brueggeman, secretary of the Missouri woman's high cost of living committee, whose testimony revealed the use of department of justice funds, appropriated by congress to reduce the cost of living—for Palmer's campaign purposes.

Miss Brueggemann added to her previous testimony, adding that the woman's committee directed by the attorney general's office had used the functions of the high cost of living committee to fight Senator Reed as well as to further the personal ambitions of Palmer.

"Is it fair to say then," asked Chairman Kenyon, "that the idea apparently was to further Palmer's political ambition and 'get' Reed?"

"That is my belief," said Miss Brueggeman.

Miss Annie Laurie Meehan, stenographer for the Palmer political Missouri committee of women, added corroboration to the exposure by testifying that Miss Mary Semple Scott, publicity director for the women's committee, had dictated Democratic party propaganda to her to be spread among the women of Missouri.

"A program of Democratic policy was gotten up," she told the senators.

Miss Scott had admitted on the witness stand that she used government travel vouchers for Palmer political activity at the Joplin state convention which selected delegates to the San Francisco convention.

The probe of pre-convention "slush" funds for the presidential nominations will be resumed here next week on the arrival of Democratic National Committeeman Edward F. Goltra from San Francisco. Senator Kenyon telegraphed Senator Pomerene of Ohio, a member of the committee, to come to St. Louis to sit with Senators Reed and Spencer of Missouri in the quiz of Goltra and his activities in behalf of Attorney General Palmer.

MY HEART and MY HUSBAND

by Adele Garrison

FURTHER REVELATIONS OF A WIFE.

A JOYFUL HINT

"Yes, I am one of the Bayview teachers," I returned demurely "Thank you again for your kindness Good-bye," and I had escaped from the telephone, adding to my other worries the vague speculation as to the nature of the things Alice Holcombes garrulous neighbor had "heard tell" about me

I went back to my room after my futile attempt to get Alice Holcombe on the telephone with one conviction firmly settled in my mind I could no longer bear alone the burden of suspense that had come to me with the mysterious death of Milly Stockbridge I must have help and counsel as to my course of conduct

I did not have to give a moment's thought to the matter of my counselor There was but one person who could help me, that one the friend who had never yet failed me, Lillian Underwood If Dicky did not come home within the next few hours for Junior's first birthday, making it possible for me to invite Lillian and Marion out for the fete day, I resolved to go into the city in the evening and tell Lillian all my troubles.

With my decision I felt a distinct lightening of my burden. My belief in Lillian's ability to straighten out any tangle is childlike albeit it surely has been justified by the things she has done for me. I was sure that if it were possible to shield me from the unpleasant train of circumstances which appeared to be following the Stockbridge tragedy, Lillian would manage it And with this assurance I resolved to put aside rigorously any thought or reference to the Bayview unpleasantness until I should be able to see her.

Putting my resolution into practice immediately, I sprang up, put my room in order, then crossed the hall to the guest room and prepared it for Lillian and her little daughter if I should be able to invite them down As I finished, I remembered with a little start of compunction Katie's remark when she took the soiled cake dishes away from me "You know how you help me more dan dis?" The girl evidently wished some favor of me, and I had utterly ignored her request.

WHAT KATIE WANTED.

I hurried downstairs, heard her carolling joyously in the kitchen long before I reached it

"Katie," I said apologetically, "I'm so sorry I forgot that you wanted me to do something for you. What is it?"

She turned an astonished face to me.

I not know vot you mean"

'Why! When you took the cake things from me to wash them, you said that I could help you more some other way"

Oh, dot!" Katie chuckled delightedly "Dot only vay to get you out by kitchen, no place for pretty hands. I no vant notings But if you vant do sometings, you pleeze get flowers you vant for house now, feea dem, den I get all mess feexed up qveeck."

'I will gather them right away," I said, and in a few minutes was in the garden gathering great clusters of roses with which the garden abounds I left a few of the very choicest for my rose bowl in the living room intending to arrange those the very last thing and with my basket and arms heaped high made my way back to the house, colliding smartly upon the kitchen porch steps with a small man in the express company's uniform.

"Oh!" I exclaimed contritely, "I hope I didn't hurt you!"

The man gave a chuckle in inverse proportion to his size

'Sure, an' it wud be takin' more than a bit iv a burrl loike you, Miss to hur-rt the likes of me," he answered in a brogue as rich as the "ould sod" itself "An' if you'll be after tellin' me now where you do be wantin' this box on me wagon—it's big enough fer an elephant's cage, so it is!"

"Why! Why!' I stammered. "I'm not expecting any large box; there must be some mistake.'

' "Haven't yez got a little bye here, y'r little brother, miss, perhaps"—this with an infectious blarneying smile that at once acknowledged and defended the extravagant assumption "Here's the name on me book, Master Richard Graham, Junior"

I almost dropped the roses I was carrying. In all probability the box contained some extravagant present for Junior's first birthday from Dicky Did this mean that Dicky wasn't coming home after all?

"It do be for here, all right," the man asserted, and I pulled myself together.

"Yes, it is for my little son," I replied with dignity, forestalling any more comment by the brisk direction. Bring it around to this door"

"I don't believe it will go in the door, ma'am," the man protested.

"Then we will unpack it on the porch," I said quietly.

But when he had brought it, I saw that he had exaggerated its size. It could easily go through the door, and as I looked at the directions printed upon it, my spirits rose decidedly, and I superintended the placing of the big crate in the store room with a heart filled with hope.

For in big black letters across the box was printed:

"Not to be opened until the arrival of sender."

There was no name to indicate who the sender was—but my heart knew.

Mass Meeting Calls On Babler to Quit

ST. LOUIS, July 10.—Resolutions calling for concerted action by the Republicans in Missouri to repudiate Jacob L. Babler, Republican national committeeman, for his connection with the distribution of campaign funds were adopted at a mass meeting of Republicans from throughout the state, held here.

The resolutions urged that members of the party hold mass meetings in every county to repudiate Babler.

The resolutions were presented by Charles Nagle, St. Louis, former secretary of commerce and labor, who asserted in an address that "it is absolutely impossible for free people to tolerate a man who in one breath confesses that he has disqualified himself to hold the position of Republican national committeeman from Missouri, yet refuses to quit the job."

An O. HENRY Story a Day

Humor Pathos Romance

A Comedy in Rubber

By O. HENRY

Copyright, 1920, by Doubleday, Page & Co.; published by special arrangement with the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

One may hope, in spite of the metaphorists, to avoid the breath of the deadly upas tree; one may, by great good fortune succeed in blacking the eye of the basilisk; one might even dodge the attentions of Cerberus and Argus, but no man, alive or dead, can escape the gaze of the Rubberer

New York is the Caoutchouc City. There are many, of course, who go their ways, making money without turning to the right or the left, but there is a tribe abroad wonderfully composed, like the Martians, solely of eyes and means of locomotion

These devotees of curiosity swarm, like flies in a moment in a strug[illegible] scene of an unusual occurrence If a workman opens a manhole, if a street car runs over a man from North Tarrytown, if a little boy drops an egg on his way home from the grocery, if a casual house or two drops into the subway if a lady loses a nickel through a hole in the lisle thread, if the police drag a telephone and a racing chart forth from an Ibsen Society reading-room, if Senator Depew or Mr Chuck Connors walks out to take the air—if any of these incidents or accidents takes place you will see the mad irresistible rush of the rubber tribe to the spot

The importance of the event does not count They gaze with equal interest and absorption at a chorus girl or at a man painting a liver pill sign They will form as deep a cordon around a man with a clubfoot as they will around a balked automobile They have the furor rubberendi They are optical gluttons, feasting and fattening on the misfortunes of their fellow beings They gloat and pore and glare and squint and stare with their fishy eyes like giggle-eyed perch at the hook baited with calamity

It would seem that Cupid would find these ocular vampires too cold game for his calorific shafts, but have we not yet to discover an immune even among the Protozoa" Yes, beautiful Romance descended upon two of this tribe and love came into their hearts as they crowded about the prostrate form of a man who had been run over by a brewery wagon

William Pry was the first on the spot He was an expert at such gatherings With an expression of intense happiness on his features he stood over the victim of the accident listening to his groans as if to the sweetest music When the crowd of spectators had swelled to a closely packed circle William saw a violent commotion in the crowd opposite him Men were hurled aside like ninepins by the impact of some moving body that clove them like the rush of a tornado With elbows umbrella hat-pin tongue and fingernails doing their duty, Violet Seymour forced her way through the mob of onlookers to the first row Strong men who even had been able to secure a seat on the 5:30 Harlem express staggered back like children as she bucked center Two large lady spectators who had seen the Duke of Roxburgh married and had often blocked traffic on Twenty third street fell back into the second row with ripped shirt-waists when Violet had finished with them William Pry loved her at first sight

The ambulance removed the unconscious agent of Cupid William and Violet remained after the crowd had dispersed They were true Rubberers People who leave the scene of an accident with the ambulance have not genuine cautchouc in the cosmogony of their necks The delicate fine flavor of the affair is to be had only in the after-taste—in gloating over the spot in gazing fixedly at the [illegible] a dream more exquisite than the opium-eater's ecstacy William Pry and Violet Seymour were connoisseurs in casualties They knew how to extract full enjoyment from every incident

Presently they looked at each other Violet had a brown birthmark on her neck as large as a silver half-dollar William fixed his eyes upon it William Pry had inordinately bowed legs Violet allowed her gaze to linger unswervingly upon them Face to face they stood thus for moments each staring at the other Etiquette would not allow them to speak, but in the Caoutchouc City it is permitted to gaze without stint at the trees in the parks and at the physical blemishes of a fellow creature

At length with a sigh they parted But Cupid had been the driver of the brewery wagon, and the wheel that broke a leg united two fond hearts

The next meeting of the hero and heroine was in front of a board fence near Broadway The day had been a disappointing one There had been no fights on the street children had kept from under the wheels of the street cars cripples and fat men in negligee shirts were scarce, nobody seemed to be inclined to slip on banana peels or fall down with heart disease Even the sport from Kokomo, Ind., who claims to be a cousin of ex-Mayor Low and scatters nickels from a cab window, had not put in his appearance There was nothing to stare at, and William Pry had premonitions of ennui

But he saw a large crowd scrambling and pushing excitedly in front of a billboard. Sprinting for it he knocked down an old woman and a child carrying a bottle of milk and fought his way like a demon into the mass of spectators Already in the inner line stood Violet Seymour with one sleeve and two good fillings gone, a corset steel puncture and a sprained wrist, but happy. She was looking at what there was to see. A man was painting upon the fence "Eat Bricklets—They Fill Your Face."

Violet blushed when she saw William Pry William jabbed a lady in a black silk raglan in the ribs, kicked a boy in the shin, hit an old gentleman on the left ear and managed to crowd nearer to Violet. They stood for an hour looking at the man paint the letters. Then William's love could be repressed no longer. He touched her on the arm.

"Come with me," he said. "I know where there is a bootblack without an Adams apple.

She looked up at him shyly, yet with unmistakable love transfiguring her countenance.

"And you have saved it for me? she asks, trembling with the first dim ecstacy of a woman beloved.

Together they hurried to the bootblacks stand. An hour they spent there gazing at the malformed youth

A window-cleaner fell from the fifth story to the sidewalk beside them. As the ambulance came clanging up William pressed her hand joyously "Four ribs at least and a compound fracture," he whispered, swiftly. "You are not sorry that you met me, are you, dearest?"

"Me? said Violet, returning the pressure. "Sure not. I could stand all day rubbering with you"

The climax of the romance occurred a few days later Perhaps the reader will remember the intense excitement into which the city was thrown when Eliza Jane, a colored woman, was served with a subpoena The Rubber Tribe encamped on the spot. With his own hands William Pry placed a board upon two beer kegs in the street opposite Eliza Jane's residence He and Violet sat there for three days and nights. Then it occurred to a detective to open the door and serve the subpoena. He sent for a kinetoscope and did so.

Two souls with such congenial tastes could not long remain apart. As a policeman drove them away with his night stick that evening they plighted their troth The seeds of love had been well sown, and had grown up, hardy and vigorous, into a —let us call it a rubber plant.

The wedding of William Pry and Violet Seymour was set for June 10 The Big Church in the Middle of the Block was banked high with flowers The populous tribe of Rubberers the world over is rampant over weddings They are the pessimists of the pews They are the guyers of the groom and the harpings of the bride They come to laugh at your marriage and should you escape from Hymen's tower on the back of death's pale steed they will come to the funeral and sit in the same pew and cry over your luck Rubber will stretch

"Four ribs at least and a compound fracture," he whispered. "You are not sorry that you met me, are you, dearest?"

The church was lighted A grosgrain carpet lay over the asphalt to the edge of the sidewalk. Bridesmaids were patting one another's sashes awry and speaking of the Bride's freckles Coachmen tied white ribbons on their whips and bewailed the space of time between drinks The minister was musing over his possible fee essaying conjecture whether it would suffice to purchase a new broadcloth suit for himself and photograph of Laura Jane Libbey for his wife Yea, Cupid was in the air

And outside the church, or, my brothers surged and heaved the rank and file of the tribe of Rubberers In two bodies they were with the grosgrain carpet and cops with clubs between They crowded like cattle they fought they pressed and surged and swayed and trampled one another to see a bit of a girl in a white veil acquire license to go through a man's pockets while he sleeps

But the hour for the wedding came and went, and the bride and bridegroom came not And impatience gave way to alarm and alarm brought about search and they were not found And then two big policemen took a hand and dragged out of the furious mob of onlookers a crushed and trampled thing with a wedding ring in its vest pocket and a shredded and hysterical woman beating her way to the carpet's edge, ragged, bruised and obstreperous

William Pry and Violet Seymour, creatures of habit had joined in the seething game of the spectators, unable to resist the overwhelming desire to gaze upon themselves entering as bride and bridegroom the rose-decked church

Rubber will out.

BUTTERS PLANS MINE MINTS TO RELIEVE MEXICO

Charles Butters, wealthy clubman and owner of big silver mines in Mexico, Salvador and Nicaragua, who has a beautiful estate and extensive laboratories at 6272 Chabot Road, has proposed to the Mexican government that silver mine operators establish their own mints in order to produce "hard money" for the Southern Republic, it was announced at his Oakland office today.

Butters plans to unite a large number of silver mine owners in the establishment of mints which will later be turned over to the Mexican government. He is now at Nogales, Arizona, where the Chamber of Commerce of that city has taken up his fight.

The plan is to rebuild the abandoned mints throughout the nation and thus bring about once more the free and unlimited coinage of silver. Butters states that if the old-time minting plan is re-established it will mean that Mexico will coin 500,000,000 ounces of silver.

The mining expert has extensive interests in mines in Mexico, Salvador and Nicaragua and is known for his introduction of the cyanide reduction process into Mexico He says the greatest need of Mexico today is small change and hard money

MEXICO STRIPPED

The revolutions and the world war, says Butters, have stripped Mexico bare of silver coin In its place, he says, is a vast quantity of paper money issued by the varying governments as fiat money. He blames the great flood of paper money in Mexico for most of the suffering in that nation in connection with the various revolutions.

His plan, backed by the Nogales Chamber of Commerce, is to have the old mints rebuilt and placed in operation by the association of silver mine interests at the cost of the association and place the mints in operation. Then the cost of the renewed mints would be recovered by the association from the mint profits over a course of years Upon the paving out of the capital charge in restoring the mints, they are to be returned to the Mexican federal government as its property to be thereafter operated under supervision of the federal government

BENEFITS THREEFOLD

This system, according to the silver mine expert, has threefold benefits First, it will at once restore to Mexico the 'hard money" and small change needed by merchants, banks and businessmen and now lacking. Second, it will provide a permanent primary market at home for large amounts of silver production. Third, it will stabilize the silver market because the Mexican home requirements will take up a great quantity of silver now exported and sold on a speculative market through San Francisco for the Orient. Also, this will serve to stimulate silver production because of the better market conditions and thus raise the primary market price for the semi-precious metal.

President Bracey Curtis of the Chamber of Commerce has named a committee of prominent men to take up the mint proposal with General Alvaro Obregon on his impending visit to his home in Nogales, Sonora, this month.

Meanwhile, the proposition will be submitted by the Nogales Chamber of Commerce to the civic bodies of all other border cities and the officials of border states.

Delay Will Be Fatal

Parents of Oakland school children cannot put off giving their teachers more money. The situation which finds the city facing a great shortage of teachers is one that must be met at once and decisively.

The exodus of school teachers from the department is gaining in volume and momentum daily. And there is an inadequate number of competent people available to take the places they are leaving. The one and only reason for this situation is the INSUFFICIENT PAY GIVEN OAKLAND SCHOOL TEACHERS

The one and only remedy for it is BETTER PAY.

And this remedy must be applied immediately if Oakland's school system is not to meet the disaster of closed schools, overcrowded classrooms and below-standard teachers, all of which must come if the best teachers cannot afford longer to teach in Oakland.

Week Will Be Busy For Church Folk

The week's schedule for the congregation of the First Christian Church is a busy and varied one. Tomorrow the usual Sunday services will be held with the Church School meeting in all departments. The "Junior Church" will be held during the regular 11 o'clock service in the downstairs department. Following the Lord's Supper [illegible] and special music the pastor, Rev. H. A. Van Winkle, will preach a sermon on "The Church at the Foot of the Mountain." There will be the different C. E. meetings at 6:30 p. m. on the topic "Christian Brotherhood Among Races and Nations." The senior leder will be H. E. Sparks, and both Intermediate and Senior Societies will install their officers at this time. Rev. Van Winkle's subject for the evening service will be "Give Us of Your Oil."

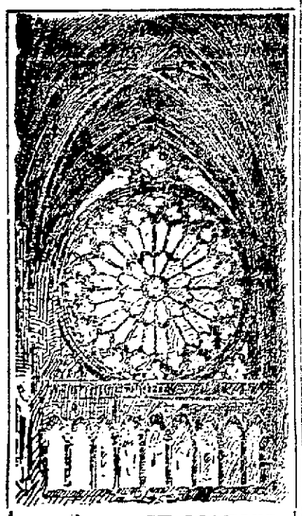

The regular meeting of the Missionary Society will be held Tuesday at the church at 2:30. New officers will be installed. Mrs. Coulter will have charge of the program. All women of the church and community are invited. Tuesday evening comes the "Summer Hump" conference of the Sunday school teachers and workers. The meeting will be held in the basement of the church, where a basket lunch will be enjoyed. "One hundred per cent of teachers and officers present" is the slogan. There will be a meeting of the church board next Wednesday evening, when written quarterly reports are due from all departments of the church. During July and August the Wednesday evening praise service will be discontinued.

To be assured publication in the church and Sunday school pages of The TRIBUNE it will be necessary for announcements of services and details concerning other activities in the institutions to be in the hands of the Church Editor not later than noon of the Thursday of the week in question. Mail addressed to the Church Editor should be posted not later than noon of Wednesday for publication the following Saturday. Notices received later than the designated time will be TOO LATE for publication.

Salvation Army Will Honor Lee's Memory

A memorial service in honor of Colonel Henry Lee, late provincial officer of the Salvation Army, will be held in the local corps hall, 533 Ninth street, tomorrow night. Similar services will be held in every corps hall throughout California, according to word received here from provincial headquarters in San Francisco.

Colonel Lee passed away this week in Los Angeles. He was one of the veteran Army workers, having enrolled in the service in Bristol, England, in 1883. He served in Norway, Denmark and Sweden and later was international secretary at the foreign headquarters in London. He came to the United States a number of years ago to assume the direction of training operations. From this work he came to California to assume the duties of provincial officer with headquarters in San Francisco. He retired from this office last December on account of failing health and was succeeded by Colonel Arthur T. Brewer, the present executive head of this province.

Similar memorial services will be held in San Francisco in the following halls: 45 Hunt street, Twenty-second and Mission streets and in the halls of the Japanese and Chinese corps.

Chas. Lloyd, Basso, to Sing Here

Charles Lloyd, well known basso cantante, has been engaged as a special feature during July at the First Baptist Church. Mr. Lloyd is well known here, having sung for five years prior to the war as bass soloist at the First Congregational Church and having served three years previously in the Trinity Episcopal Church in San Francisco.

When a boy he sang as soprano soloist in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Oakland. Mr. Lloyd's father, formerly chief of police of Oakland, was also a singer of exceptional merit and was choir director at the First Baptist Church many years ago when the Baptists worshipped in their edifice at Fourteenth and Brush streets, which was destroyed by fire.

The pulpit of the First Baptist Church will be occupied tomorrow by Rev. S. Fraser Langford, pastor of the Redlands Church. In the morning he will take for his subject, "The Temptations of Boyhood" and in the evening his theme will be "The Big Room."

THE SPIRIT WORLD
Paradise and Hades

By DR. JAMES E. TALMAGE
Of the Council of the Twelve, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints; Salt Lake City, Utah.

Note: For free copies of other articles of this series, send request to the author.

It is a common practice to designate the place, the time, or the state of existence following death as the hereafter; indeed, that term is defined by lexicographers as the future life. The application is a broad one, too broad to be regarded as descriptive except as the matter of sequence.

Nevertheless, the expression is a convenient one, and is practically synonymous with the poet's phrase "the great unknown." Its usage is a confession of uncertainty or ignorance of what awaits us beyond; and as to duration it embraces eternity, without divisions or periods either as to condition or time. Holy Scripture is more definite, and like Paul's commission [illegible] summons us to hear and learn the truth.

The world of the disembodied was known to the Hebrews as Sheol and to the Greeks as Hades; and these terms, meaning the unseen or unknown world, are translated Hell in our version of the Old and New Testaments respectively. In a few New Testament passages referring to the state of the damned, Gehenna is the original of the term Hell.

Paradise first appears in the Bible in the Savior's utterance from the cross promising the penitent thief a place there (Luke 23:43); and the word occurs subsequently but twice. Paradise is distinctively the abode of the righteous during their period of disembodiment, and is in contrast with the "prison" tenanted by disobedient spirits. (1 Peter 3:19, 20).

The several places or states mentioned above have reference to the existence of disembodied spirits, and therefore embrace only that period of the hereafter between death and resurrection. Beyond the spirit world, with its Paradise and its prison, lies the eternity of the resurrected state, in the which men shall endure, with spirits and bodies reunited, redeemed from the thraldom of death, and, according to the record of their mortal lives, saved or condemned.

The hereafter, therefore, comprises severally the disembodied and reembodied existences of the individual; and these must be distinctly segregated in any rational conception of the future life based on Scripture. Read the testimony of the prophet Alma:

"Now concerning the state of the soul between death and the resurrection. Behold, it has been made known unto me, by an angel, that the spirits of all men, as soon as they are departed from this mortal body; yea, the spirits of all men, whether they be good or evil, are taken home to that God who gave them life.

"And then shall it come to pass that the spirits of those who are righteous are received into a state of happiness, which is called paradise; a state of rest; a state of peace, where they shall rest from all their troubles and from all care, and sorrow, etc.

"And then shall it come to pass, that the spirits of the wicked, yea, who are evil; for behold, they have no part nor portion of the Spirit of the Lord; for behold, they chose evil works rather than good; therefore the spirit of the devil did enter into them, and take possession of their house; and these shall be cast out into outer darkness; there shall be weeping, and wailing, and gnashing of teeth; and this because of their own iniquity; being led captive by the will of the devil.

"Now this is the state of the souls of the wicked; yea, in darkness, and a state of awful, fearful, looking for the fiery indignation of the wrath of God upon them; thus they remain in this state, as well as the righteous in paradise, until the time of their resurrection." (Book of Mormon, Alma 40:11-14).

It is evident that the final judgment of mankind is to be reserved until after the resurrection; while in another sense judgment is manifest in the segregation of the disembodied, for in the intermediate state like will seek like, the clean and good finding companionship with their kind, and the wicked congregating through the natural attraction of evil for evil.

The essential features of the intermediate state are deducible from the Lords' parable of the rich man and Lazarus. Read Luke 16:19-31. While it would be critically unfair to affirm doctrinal principles on the incidents of an ordinary story, we cannot admit that Christ would teach falsely even in parable; and therefore we accept as true our Lord's portrayal of conditions in the spirit world. That righteous and unrighteous dwell apart between death and resurrection is made clear. Paradise, or, as the Jews liked to designate that blessed abode, "Abraham's bosom," is not the place of final glory, any more than hell to which the rich man's spirit went is the final habitation of the lost. Between the two, however, "there is a great gulf fixed." To that intermediate state of existence men's works do follow them (Rev. 14:13); and the dead shall find that in their bodiless state their condition is that for which they have prepared themselves while in the flesh.

The program Sunday afternoon will also include vocal solos by Louis Van Winkler, baritone, and Norman W. Pendleton, tenor.

These assemblies have proven most interesting and inspiring. They are held in a natural little amphitheater in the hills near Mills College, just off the Leona Heights car line. The time is four o'clock, and the meetings begin promptly.

Wilbur Gives Friendship Lesson
Jonathan, David Ideal Example

Friendship: What It Is and What It Does. Golden Text: A friend loveth at all times and a brother is born for adversity. Prov. 17:17. Lesson Text: I Sam. 19:1-7; John 15:13-15.

JONATHAN AND DAVID

One of the traditional friendships of history is that between these brothers-in-law and rival claimants for the throne. One born a prince, the other a shepherd lad. One the national heir to the throne, the other an usurper as it might be thought. That David should be content to await the development of God's plan, was noteworthy, but that Johathan should be a devoted friend to the one who was to take his rightful place was more significant. The friendship between them was a worthy one, and grounded on the solid rock of merit. Both were true servants of Jehovah, both were men of great and practical faith, both had fought valiantly because of that faith, against overwhelming odds; both were young and strong, both were skillful and successful leaders, each was worthy of the loyal affection of the other

THE LESSON STORY

Saul had banished David from the Court and sought to kill him. He evidently thought himself to be "above the law. "Thou shalt not kill." Mad with jealousy he desired to take the life of a devoted servant, one to whom he had given his daughter in marriage and to whom he owed the safety of his kingdom. Saul ordered Jonathan, his son, and all his servants to slay David. But Jonathan, Saul's son, delighted much in David, and Jonathan told David, saying, "Saul, my father, seeketh to slay thee now therefore take heed to thyself in the morning and abide in a secret place and hide thyself and I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where thou art and I will commune with my father of thee, and if I see ought, I will tell thee." So Jonathan tried to persuade Saul to change his purpose toward David and to restore him to favor. And Jonathan spoke good of David unto Saul, his father, and said unto him: "Let not the king sin against his servant, against David; because he hath not sinned against thee and because his works have been to thee-ward very good, for thee he put his life in his hand and smote the Philistine, and Jehovah wrought a great victory for all Israel. Thou sawest it and didst rejoice. Wherefore will thou sin against innocent blood, to slay David without a cause?" And Saul hearkened unto the voice of Jonathan and Saul swore "As Jehovah liveth he shall not be put to death." And Jonathan called David and showed him all these things. And Jonathan brought David to Saul and he was in his presence as before time.

FRIENDSHIP AN ASSET

David is one of the great men of history. He was a great leader, a mighty warrior, a spiritual giant. The outpouring of his soul in loving service to Jehovah has enriched the spiritual life of countless millions, and yet our lesson shows him in dire need and in great peril from which he was saved by a friend, whose unselfish love not only rescued him from the peril but restored him to the king's household. Just then it was more valuable to him than anything on earth and was the means of his rescue. Some men sometimes forget and others never seem to understand that friendships are the great assets of life. A man who says "my best friend is the dollar" is not only a cynic but a fool. His estimate of values is entirely wrong. Money can buy many things, almost everything except happiness, and friends and joy and love. Of course, great wealth can give opportunities for friendships but will they stand the test? It will give a beautiful environment for happiness which some mistake for happiness. If you would know the difference ask of those who live in palaces, if they will but tell the truth, we will learn that pomp and splendor are poor substitutes for loyal hearts and loving devotion. Happiness and joy find their source within the heart.

THE GREAT FRIENDSHIP

Precious as are all earthly friendships, they are most valuable because they enable us to understand the love of God for us and the spirit of love which gave us as a friend, Jesus Christ. A friend that sticketh closer than a brother. It is His friendship that sanctifies and glorifies all other friendships. When others fail us, He understands; when others doubt us, He knows; when sorrow strikes us dumb, He hears the sobbing heart. He knows better than we know ourselves. He understands our hopes, our desires and our motives, when they perplex us. As David said "He leads us in paths of righteousness for His name's sake. He restoreth my soul." If we know Him as a friend we can sing with David, "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever." "This, then, is the life eternal," says Paul, "to know Thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom Thou hath sent." To experience the friendship of God is thus to live forever

Ben Scovel, War Hero, Will Tell Thrilling Story

BEN SCOVEL

Man Whose Every Rib Was Cracked to Be Speaker at Local Church.

At the First Congregational Church Sunday evening Ben Scovel is to be the speaker. His topic will be "Christ in the Trenches." Ben Scovel, (and there is a lot left of him in spite of the fact that he was gassed, shell-shocked, wounded in seven places with shrapnel, and had every rib in his body cracked when the top was blown off Vimy Ridge), is the son of the former Dean of Salisbury Cathedral and the nephew of Sir Henry Irving, with whom he played for four years. He is a veteran of the Boer War, was refused in this war, so recruited the 169th Battalion of the Canadian Army of which he was made the honorary Colonel.

Of his regiment there are but 17 alive today.

Scovel was one of the chief entertainers with the Canadian and British Y. M. C. A. and was enabled to render a wonderful service.

This is only one of many programs of unique interest at the "Old Downtown Church" during these summer months. At the morning service Rev. Fred W. Morrison will preach on the theme, "The Permanent and the Changing." At 10 o'clock the children will have a moving picture of the wonderful Columbia river highway in the series of "nature movies." Grown-ups are invited

ST. JOHN'S PRESBYTERIAN

At St. John's Presbyterian Church, Berkeley, Rev. Francis W. Russell will deliver both sermon subjects tomorrow. At the morning service Dr. Russell will take as his theme "Jehovah," and in the evening "Possessing Our Inheritance." This pastor has been making addresses at the Conference Meeting at Mount Hermon during this week.

Last Sunday evening William Jennings Bryan spoke at this church on the subject "False Gods." It was a splendid address and the congregation reported keen enjoyment in the sermon. It was announced that the regular church bulletin will be discontinued for two months this summer, and that the D. V. B. S. will close this week. The school attendance averaged 75, and there was a fine spirit shown throughout the three weeks of session.

ORANGEMEN TO CELEBRATE

Rev George C. Pearson of Twenty-fourth Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church will speak at the Sunday morning service upon the topic "The Genius of Protestantism." The evening service at 8 o'clock will be one of special interest. At that time the various lodges about the bay of the Loyal Orange Lodge of America will hold their annual celebration of the founding of the order. Lieutenant Gordon, an Ulsterman, will be the chief speaker. Gordon was a divinity student at the beginning of the war, but entered the service under the English colors and fought in France.

Colored Folks Will Supply Jubilee Song

Rev. John Stevens, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church will preach at the 11 o'clock worship service tomorrow, following the usual Bible classes and study in the Sunday school rooms. The sermon theme will be, "The Worth of a Man," and the fine quartet will render selections under the direction of Bessie Beatty Roland.

In the evening at 7:30 o'clock a unique service of sacred music will be rendered by the Rousseau family of colored musicians. The program will consist of plantation melodies, jubilee songs and heart-music, such as the colored people know how to render so effectively. The Rousseaus, consisting of father, mother, sons and daughters, all sing and play some musical instrument. There will be a brief address by the pastor. Seats are free and all are invited.

About twenty-five of the young people of First Church have been attending the Epworth Institute at Ashomar this last week.

Supply Shortage Is Faced by P. T. & T.

A serious shortage of necessary supplies is faced by the local telephone company, according to J. D. Holmes, district manager for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. According to Holmes, storms, strikes, shortage of productive labor, lack of fuel and lack of motive situation for the telephone system in situation for the telephone system in general, and the prospect for relief is remote.

"To sum it up," said Holmes, "the situation, both as to production, the manufacture of fabricated articles, and the difficulties of transportation is worse than the country has ever known. But in spite of all these difficulties the telephone company has continued operations."

Siegfried Gotez, S. F., Reports to Berlin

BERLIN, July 10.—The German-American, Siegfried Goetz, of California, who is a native of Berlin, visited Ober Burgomaster Wermuth at the city hall today and reported on the activities of the German-American South Californian Relief commission, under whose auspices a quantity of foodstuffs were shipped to Germany from Holland and Denmark. The supplies, especially milk, were destined for the women and children. Wermuth expressed his deep gratitude to the Californian donors.

THE NEXT PRESIDENT

It is no feeling of conceit pervading the Fourth Estate which directs attention to the fact that the presidential nominees of the two great political parties, Senator Warren G. Harding and Governor James M. Cox, are both newspaper editors and publishers. One of these gentlemen will be the next President, which will mark the first occupancy of the White House by a newspaper editor.

It is not remarkable that a newspaper man should be chosen President. For throughout the history of the republic, and even prior to the American Revolution, editors occupied a prominent and highly useful place in public affairs, and it is only natural that at last they should have their inning in the first office in the gift of the people.

Ever since John Campbell started the first American newspaper, the Boston News Letter, in 1704, newspaper men have been climbing higher in the regard of their country. It has not always been that they have served in high political office; in the majority of cases they have worked in a private capacity, though none the less effectively.

Benjamin Franklin, a diplomat and statesman and leading figure in the struggle for American independence, begrimed his fingers with printers' ink when only a child. And he stuck to the craft in an active way almost to the end of his distinguished career. Not more than a half dozen men have exerted as large an influence in the upbuilding of this Republic as Benjamin Franklin.

Alexander Hamilton and John Quincy Adams both were able journalists of fine and penetrating vision, and were prolific writers for "the press" of their days. Thomas Jefferson, financial backer and active director of The Gazette, used its columns constantly to expound his ideas of government.

In the memory of some persons now living, Horace Greeley was first a practical printer and later a writer and editor of wide influence. Qualifying as journeyman printer on the Northern Spectator of East Poultney, Vermont, in 1830, he was successively connected with the Morning Post, the New Yorker, The Jeffersonian, the Log Cabin, and the New York Tribune. In the field of economic and moral reform and politics he was a commanding figure. Though a candidate for the Presidency, he was not successful.

James G. Blaine of Maine, who lost the Presidency by reason of a misleading, though catchy slogan by his political opponents, was associate editor of the Kennebec Journal in 1855, and two years later editor of the Portland Advertiser, the leading Republican organ of his State. Though he did not become President he was twice Secretary of State and in that capacity contributed largely to the formation and execution of important American foreign policies.

The late Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was a writer of books and contributor to newspapers before he became a candidate for the Vice-Presidency with McKinley in 1900. After his retirement from the Presidency in 1908 he turned again to journalism and became associate editor of The Outlook and a writer on the Metropolitan Magazine and the Kansas City Star.

Former President Taft has devoted the last several years to writing books and magazines, and is at present on the staff of the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The list of those who have been less conspicuous but who nevertheless have occupied important places, which they honored, is long. James Russell Lowell, John Hay, Walter Hynes Page, war ambassador to Great Britain, and Robert Underwood Johnson, at present ambassador to Italy, belong to this category.

Now by a mere coincidence two newspaper men are competing for the Presidency and one of them will win. Each has built up and conducts a newspaper that demands the respect of and yields a useful influence among his fellow Ohioans. After contributing many master minds to the conduct of the nation's affairs, both at home and abroad, since the important mission that took Benjamin Franklin to Paris during the Revolution, the newspaper business is to give the country a President.

HASH

Hashmakers of the present seem to follow literally the verdict of the lexicographers that hash is "something that is hashed." They do not make it as it was made in the days of a sturdier cuisine. It is not nearly so appetizing nor sustaining.

There was a day in the life of this republic when meat was the basic ingredient of hash—minced or ground corned beef, raw or roast fresh beef, chicken or turkey. Meat was the headliner, to which was added potatoes and onions. Occasionally foreign and unfamiliar substances intruded and were viewed with distrust, but the hash of other days was savory and satisfying, a meal sufficient for a day's journey.

But profiteers and cheaters and dealers in spurious goods have driven the old-fashioned hash away, in favor of cheap and tawdry substitutes. Hash nowadays is a mess of potatoes with an infirm color and an elusive flavor of meat about it. If we could restore some of the old-time simplicity and genuineness of the dishes of our forefathers, the high cost of living would not be such a bother and we would be happier.

COMMEMORATING THE VICTORY

After many sessions following the armistice, the Inter-allied Military Commission at Paris planned a service medal to be generally uniform for all nations, commemorative of the war with Germany. The United States Government has approved the American version of this medal and it is to be issued to every soldier, sailor and marine in the enlisted and commissioned personnel who was on active duty and served with an honorable record during the world war. The medals will soon be ready for distribution.

It was a happy idea that uniformity in this commemorative medal for those who served in the war should be achieved. The basic design was agreed upon by the Inter-allied Commission, and the only changes for each country will be on the reverse side, where the central piece shall be contributed by the country awarding the medal.

For example, the reverse side of the American medal bears in the center a shield imposed upon a two-headed battle ax, with the letters "U. S." on each side of a partly covered roll of papyrus scrolls bound with ribbon, emblematic of the associated nations. On this side appears the legend, "The great war for civilization," and the names of the countries who participated in the struggle against the Teutonic alliance.

In designing the obverse side the commission selected two favorite symbols of victory—the rainbow and the statue of the winged victory of Samothrace. The rainbow has always been in all countries the emblem of peace and good fortune and the ribbon upon which the pendant medal will hang is most skillfully executed in rainbow hues.

The figure of the winged victory likewise is of ancient lineage in celebration of military victories. The statue of Samothrace is the greatest emblem of military success known in ancient times. It derives its name through its discovery, in 1863, on Samothrace, by French excavators in charge of M. Champoiseau, who were searching for relics of ancient Greece. The pieces of the statue were taken to Paris and the assembled fragments are now in the Louvre.

The Samothracian victory is a splendid example of the ancient custom and was set up by Demetrius Poliorcetes to celebrate a great naval victory in 306 B. C. The goddess is represented as standing on the bow of the ship. With her right hand she holds a trumpet to her lips and with her left she carries the framework of a trophy. Her whole attitude is to give an almost startling impression of a figure rushing through the air on her ship to announce the glorious news, "Victory is ours."

Some 4,600,000 Americans will be entitled to receive and wear this victory medal. This number includes, besides the army, 500,000 navy men, 30,000 marines, and the nurse and ambulance corps. Altogether about 20,000,000 men and women of the allied countries will receive this memento of the world's greatest struggle.

In the far distant ages to come, when a new civilization may be upon the earth and the present may be destroyed, a new race of excavators may come upon this medal, and, finding its counterpart in every corner of the earth, wonder what it was all about.

Seizure of 2700 cases of bourbon liquor that had been put up in Chinese containers and labeled "medicine" in Chinese characters, should not start a rush to Chinese dispensaries. Federal agents probably will keep close tab on these places in the future.

CHEAPNESS OF TRANSPORTATION.

Relatively, transportation is about the cheapest thing modern civilization has devised. We complain at freight rates, we find fault with railroad accommodations and grumble about the increased fares of street cars and traction lines. Every time gasolene goes up a cent we resent it, as we should, and the tire bills are enormous and growing all the time. But, all things considered, transportation is still very cheap, whether it is upon the steam roads, the street car lines, the traction lines or in automobiles. The last named is by far the most expensive at this time, but it is cheaper than walking.

That is the way to make the comparison—by walking. One walks three miles an hour, at considerable expenditure of physical energy. If he will devote the same amount of physical energy to some other task he will be paid enough for the hour's work to carry him fifteen or twenty miles; and if that isn't a fair way of finding out the cost of transportation we know nothing of comparisons. But the time element must also be figured in the bargain.

When one has walked thirty miles he has consumed the whole day. There has been no time for anything else. So it costs a day's time and energy to walk the thirty miles, let us say. Now, one can work an hour or two and earn money enough to pay the railroad or carfare for thirty miles. Then, he can cover the thirty miles in an hour, leaving him the remainder of the day for his own use. Has civilization developed anything cheaper than that?—Columbus Dispatch, Ind.

NOTES and COMMENT

When we read that thirty-two fires are raging in northern California forests we have prima facie evidence that the camper is abroad, and that he has been sufficiently indifferent as to campfires, cigarettes and other odds and ends of the devouring element to do incalculable damage.

"American Woolen Mills Close." Possible to connect this up with the "financiering" that sent clothes up out of sight for three years. Wool is now in such slump that it might be got out of the way by putting more of it in cloth.

It is interesting that the troubles in woolens should be coincident with similar troubles in silks. The slump of prices has forced the largest silk importing house in New York to the wall. Appears to be another sign of a trend toward price normality.

Political life has come to be largely one primary after another. August 31 will occur a primary at which candidates for Congress and for magistrates will be chosen in California. It is seven weeks off, but already there are manifestations of excitement over the prospects and possibilities. There seems to be considerable for some persons to feel perturbed over.

The fight has already begun to get the Republican National Convention out to San Francisco in 1924. Chicago is considered the contender, and comparison of convention experiences by delegates is a feature of the contest that Californians will not shrink from.

The referendum sometimes works unexpectedly. The carfare on Seattle's municipally-owned lines was increased to 10 cents, and a referendum has been invoked against it. That will hold up the matter, and in the meantime the operation of the lines will have to be abandoned. Such an outcome could not have been foreseen by those who expected the referendum to correct all things that are amiss in government.

Mr. Bryan seems to be having the inning now that he was denied at the convention. The campaign authorities are visibly perturbed over the problem whether he will get in and help elect Cox. And he is permitting the perturbation, not wholly without enjoyment, as it would appear.

The money necessary to secure the Democratic convention may not have come easily—$200,000 is a considerable sum to raise for such a new purpose in a city that had already been done to a frazzle by financial drives—but the event came off with such eclat that guarantees will be readily forthcoming for future conventions. The precedent will cause a general loosening up.

The practical joke miscarried at Livermore recently. Two San Francisco youths thought to add to the general gaiety by taking a large cloth sign that had been advertising the late rodeo and loading it in their automobile just as though they were going to carry it away. They were apprehended and a local magistrate sentenced them to twenty days apiece. They admit themselves that it was all a joke.

It looks too much as though some of the controversy with the Huns which was carried on for four years will have to be gone through with again. Perhaps it was a mistake to knock off at the Rhine.

It is now intimated by some of the leaders that even Senator LaFollette won't do as a head for that third party. The component parts of the party, it was foreseen, would be very hard to suit. The Pinchot element in itself has never yet been entirely satisfied with anybody.

When we read about the match king leaving $5,081,115 at his death we are able to see what tremendous results come from small things. A match is inconsiderable. Anybody will give you one. Yet we see how they mount up.

The way the Martinez Gazette sizes it up: "The deeper Bryan is buried politically, the bigger upheaval he makes when he rises up quadrennially out of his grave."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

The Sperry mill at South Vallejo is shut down this week for the first time since December, 1914. The reason for closing down the plant is due to the lack of wheat. It is stated, however, that the mill will resume operations next week as the first of the 1920 wheat will soon begin to arrive from Napa, Lake, Sonoma and Mendocino counties.—Vallejo News.

If the Democrats cannot find a dark horse, even in Brother Bryan's list of nobodies, "may we not" put the press gallery in nomination? Almost any one of the outstanding men in that press gallery could make a good president if elected, and some of them might even have a chance of election if nominated. Omitting Mr. Bryan himself, and beginning with Irvin Cobb, he would doubtless make a seriously good president, though he has done his best to make the public take him as a joke.—Fresno Republican.

Five million copies of Senator Harding's pictures have been printed for distribution throughout the country. Quite a different situation from 1884, when he kicked off the edition of the Marion Star, went to the convention that nominated Blaine and Logan and returned home only to find the Sheriff of Marion county in possession of his paper.—Los Angeles Times.

Humorists at the San Francisco convention make much of Mr. Bryan's hearty appetite. One thing is certain. He is a veritable glutton for a fight over any policy which he sponsors.—Long Beach News.

THE NATION'S FOOD

Total Consumption 80,000,000 Tons Per Year—Conservation During the War Decreased Wheat Consumption 4,000,000 Tons Per Year—Deficit Made Up By Increased Consumption of Potatoes.

By DR. FRANK M. SURFACE

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Almost everyone has been impressed when passing through the restaurant or hotel district of a large city at mealtime, with the enormous quantity of food required to feed even the floating population of a city. When multiplied by the total number of cities and rural communities the figures are indeed striking.

The United States Department of Labor furnished some figures on the approximate consumption of food per person per day in twelve of the large cities of the country. Taking an average of the consumption in these cities gives the following figures.

FOOD CONSUMPTION PER PERSON PER DAY

	Pounds
Meat	0.350
Fish	0.595
Dairy Products	0.874
Cereals	0.954
Sugar	0.171
Fruits	0.361
Vegetables	0.109
Fats	0.139
Miscellaneous Food	0.668
Total	4.212

According to these figures the average consumption per person is 4.21 pounds per day or a total for 105,000,000 people of 80,722,000 tons per year.

It is also possible to obtain a statistical consumption of the more important human foods by taking the total production, deducting exports, waste, seed and the amount fed to livestock and adding the imports. The following table gives the total human consumption of some of the most important foods as determined in this manner.

CONSUMPTION OF IMPORTANT FOODS IN UNITED STATES.
(Tons)

	1915-16	1916-17
Wheat and rye flour	12,848,575	10,170,244
Cornmeal	2,469,653	2,469,354
Pork and lard	4,767,224	4,404,869
Beef and veal	3,684,336	3,998,793
Butter	472,385	462,156
Cheese	97,751	82,798
Milk (fresh)	11,751,549	12,090,885
Sugar	3,713,485	3,972,200
Potatoes	7,083,749	4,758,725
Poultry	749,999	742,500
Eggs	1,356,250	1,388,371
Total	48,995,556	45,560,695

	1917-18	1918-19
Wheat and rye flour	8,909,865	8,845,382
Cornmeal	3,057,867	2,865,900
Pork and lard	4,007,451	4,545,830
Beef and veal	4,171,453	4,154,722
Butter	496,929	491,650
Cheese	93,443	104,128
Milk (fresh)	12,348,175	12,449,679
Sugar	3,312,365	4,271,558
Potatoes	8,785,064	8,231,042
Poultry	735,000	737,205
Eggs	1,336,976	1,358,344
Total	47,758,288	48,150,842

The total consumption of the commodities listed amounts to between 45 and 49 million tons. The consumption of fruits, vegetables other than potatoes and miscellaneous food which is given in the Department of Labor figures is not included here. This accounts for the difference in the totals.

It will be noted that during the war our total consumption of food was from one to two and one-half million tons less than in 1915-16. In the last two years our consumption of wheat and rye flour was nearly 4,000,000 tons less than before our entrance into the war. This shows that on the food most needed by the allied countries, there was a real and significant saving in response to the appeal of the Food Administration. This deficit in cereal flour consumption was made up partly by an increased use of cornmeal but chiefly by the very large increase in potato consumption. There was a slight decrease in pork consumption in 1917-18 but an increase in beef and veal. The increased foreign demand for these commodities was largely met from increased production and it was not necessary to restrict domestic consumption.

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

Rickets—Now Thought Chief Cause of Many Baby Deaths

By Dr. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D.
(Johns Hopkins University.)

Many researches and experiments throw a flood of light on the nature of the diet required for a healthy existence, and which may be briefly summarized as follows: A diet was constructed in which protein was represented by the casein of milk, carbohydrate by starch and fat by lard, all carefully purified by chemical treatment so as to exclude anything but these three substances.

Such a diet, be it noted, is sufficient both in quantity and quality for the needed nourishment, but it does not contain any of the vital constituents of fresh food. In theory this should form an ideal food, but in practice it was found that growth soon ceased, and also certain diseases developed, notably rickets and scurvy.

When this stage has been reached a quantity of fresh, uncooked food of animal origin, so small as to constitute only an infinitesimal addition to the caloric value of the diet, was added, with the result that growth was resumed and health was restored.

In another series of experiments there was given a diet composed of oatmeal porridge, bread and a certain quantity of whole milk. This was found invariably to give rise to rickets. It will be noted that porridge, bread and milk are all supposed to be very wholesome articles of diet, and many young children are actually brought up on a diet of this sort. A large variety of different animal and vegetable fats were then added, with the following results: Animal fats, such as beef fat, were found to cure rickets when it had arisen, and to prevent it if added to the diet from the beginning; whereas, vegetable products, such as nut butter, linseed oil, cocoanut and cottonseed oils were found to have absolutely no beneficial effect whatever, either curative or preventive.

It is evident that the substances shown to be valueless in the prevention of that disease are in common use in the diet of the poorer classes. Creams prepared with linseed oil are commonly added to milk for the feeding of infants. Cocoanut and similar oils constitute the main portion of the lower-priced margarines on which growing children are so frequently fed. Nut butter is a favorite fat of the vegetarian, and cottonseed oil is not only a common adulteration of cod liver oil, but is often substituted for it altogether. A very high proportion, therefore, of growing infants and children get their fat from a source which is absolutely useless in the prevention of a common disease which carries many disabilities, both physical and mental, in its train.

In the experiments quoted it was also shown that absence of or deficiency, in one element of the diet means the inefficiency of another. It was found, for instance, that the addition of extract of malt increased the effectiveness of the animal fats in the prevention of rickets, and that while a certain proportion of lime and iron was necessary, no advantage was gained in the prevention of rickets from larger quantities added in the form of the pure chemical salts of these elements. It is necessary, therefore, that a diet shall not only be sufficient, but also well balanced.

BUEHLE STEELS HEART AGAINST HONEYED VOICE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10. — Honeyed words murmured into the ears of Erich Buehle by the Princess Della Pattra in Judge Ward's courtroom where she is being tried for embezzling $7000 of Buehle's money, will have no effect to stop the prosecution of the Khedive's daughter and descendent of the royal house of Egypt.

This was the assertion today of both Buehle and his attorney, Clarence Stafford, who has so far prevented Della Pattra from seeing Buehle alone.

"Under no circumstances will I withdraw from the prosecution," Buehle said. "I have the law on my side and I shall appeal to it for vindication of my rights. I know that because Della Pattra is a woman she has the world on her side—but I myself have a right of justice. The case will come to trial in a week and I hope then that this justice will be given to me."

BANG, GOES RECEIVER

Declaring that if she could see Buehle alone for five minutes she would have the case dismissed, the princess called her "cave man" from the Plaza Hotel three times on the telephone, but each time he hung up the receiver.

"Never mind," she said, "Eric is beginning to weaken."

Because she would be ostracized from the royal family and lose her caste as a Mohammedan, the princess says she cannot marry an American although she prefers American men. An American could not qualify for Khedive, she says.

"I would not have been received in the best New York circles had I not been a princess royal," said Della Pattra.

CIGAR STORE? ABSURD!

A telegram from Reno, Nev., saying Della Pattra had clerked at the cigar stand of the Golden Hotel there, was characterized as absurd by the girl.

The princess said she had received more than 200 telegrams from her "cave man" after she left San Francisco and went to New York. Some of them were several pages long and the total cost him hundreds of dollars. Eric could not wait for anything so slow as the mails, she said.

"I have been pursued wherever I go by men who send letters and flowers to my room and wait for me to pass in the hotel lobbies," she declared. "Sometimes I get tired of being a princess and would like to be just a woman who could go about unobserved."

With her black lace veil, immense earrings of jet, her turban and her golden slippers, she is a conspicuous figure. She talks seriously of reformations in Egypt when she succeeds

J. M. Kelley is Acquitted; Jury Takes Two Ballots

Joseph M. Kelley, Oakland laundryman and politician, was acquitted last evening on the second ballot of the charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. The second ballot was taken within twenty minutes after the case had been submitted to the jury.

The presentation of the evidence showed a marked difference of opinion between the witnesses as to whether Kelley was intoxicated at the time of his arrest on the morning of March 2 in front of the municipal auditorium. Three policemen who saw him, testified he was intoxicated, and three other police officers were equally certain he was not.

The sensation of the trial was the development that some of the prosecution's evidence had disappeared from a desk in the office of the police inspectors. The missing documents consisted of a diagram drawn by Kelley at the time of his arrest in which he proposed to show where he had been; the arrest tag made out by Patrolman J. H. Plugg and the notes which Inspector Robert Tracy had made while examining Kelley.

In the arguments, Deputy District Attorney Myron Harris stated he had been a close friend of Kelley's for many years and therefore found the task of prosecuting him a difficult one. He said the case against Kelley was clear.

Philip Carey, associated with Attorney Peter J. Crosby in the defense, made the only argument for the defendant.

When Foreman Theresa Schmitt read the verdict, Kelley bowed his head for an instant and then rushed forward and shook hands with the jurors.

MURDER DEFENSE MAY LINK OTHER WOMEN TO CASE

FRESNO, July 10.—Resumption of the Pittman murder trial is awaited with interest here following completion of a jury yesterday. When the case is resumed Tuesday, testimony of a sensatioonal nature, which may involve a number of Fresno matrons, is expected to be introduced in behalf of Marion E. Pittman in an effort to show he was justified in killing Andrew Nicholson, bachelor and clubman.

The defendant killed Nicholson, a building contractor, in the Pittman home. He surrendered and declared Nicholson "broke up" his home. The defense also will endeavor to prove Nicholson was on intimate terms with many other Fresno married women.

Pittman's counsel probably will attempt to show he was temporarily insane. Mrs. Pittman was not in court yesterday and it developed her whereabouts for several weeks has been a mystery.

Seamen's Genoese Meet Held Failure

seth, who, with Paul Scharrenberg and Oscar Carlson, is in Genoa unofficially representing American seamen at the International Seamen's Conference, says the conference has been of very little value.

"Two of the propositions already adopted," he asserted, "give shipowners complete control over the seamen when they are away from their ships. If this becomes effective it will only lead to a caste system."

A vigorous attack against the American marine policy was made by Emile Deckers, Belgian ship owners' delegate. He declared America desired to appear capable of giving a millennium to the world and added:

"Isn't it a preconceived plan to destroy the European merchant marine, especially that of small countries like mine? Shouldn't we do something to protect ourselves against these attempts from America?"

ACCUSED HOTEL CLERK RELEASED ON $5000 BOND

Milton Clark, 21, former night clerk at the Hotel Shattuck, now the Whitecotton, in Berkeley, accused of the theft of about $2000 worth of jewelry and money from the hotel safe in March, 1918, and who recently was brought back from Minneapolis, where he was arrested, was released from the county jail today when his wealthy wife, many years his senior, arrived from Minneapolis and furnished bail for him in the sum of $5000.

Clark disappeared from the hotel the night the money and valuables were found to be missing, passing on the street after midnight one of the guests whose property was part of that taken from the safe. He admits he did not notify the hotel proprietor that he intended leaving, but declares it cannot be proved that the property was in the safe and that the fact that he had access to the safe is nothing against him as he had a right to enter it.

Clark married his present wife in Minneapolis, where she was proprietor of the Hotel Waldorph. He claims his arrest was due to the fact that he had trouble with the police there over the complaint of a guest at his hotel concerning the theft of a pair of trousers and that when they discovered an old circular asking for his arrest they immediately lodged him in jail.

Mrs. Clark has been referred to as 51 years of age. Clark indignantly denies that this is her age, but admits she is considerably his senior and that he is 21. He declares he did not marry her for her money but that they love each other dearly. He says he was about to go to Texas to invest $25,000 in a ranch when he was arrested.

The bondsmen secured by Mrs. Clark are H. D. Haskins, shipbuilder, and his brother, A. J. Haskins, associated with him in the shipbuilding business.

S. F. ATTORNEY IS HELD FOR TRIAL; FRAUD CHARGED

Ray Ryder, a prominent attorney of San Francisco, will stand trial before the Superior Court of Alameda county on a charge of attempted grand larceny by trick and device, according to the decision of Police Judge Mortimer Smith this morning.

Ryder's bail was fixed at $3000, which was forthcoming.

The accused attorney was arrested June 5 by Inspectors Richard McSorley and Frank Rossick on a complaint by the Fugazi Popular Bank, Eighth and Broadway, that Ryder attempted to secure a loan of $1750 under a fictitious name, and offered as security a deed to property in Alameda which he said he owned.

It is alleged by the prosecution that the deed was forged.

The bank was about to grant the loan, according to the testimony, when Mrs. Desimones, Ryder's mother-in-law, received an inkling of the pending transaction and interfered.

Ryder was defended during his preliminary examination before Judge Smith by W. H. L. Hynes.

AUTO BANDITS ELUDE POLICE

Two bandits held up and robbed Edward Bourne and J. M. Pritchett, 491 Thirty-eighth street, at the point of a gun and took money and valuables, late last night.

Bourne and Pritchett lost no time in reporting the crime to Night Captain of Inspectors William, Kyle, who ordered the shotgun squad out.

Pedestrians in the vicinity of the hold-up, which occurred at Eleventh and Madison streets, told the police that two men in a touring car had been seen speeding out East Fourteenth street a few minutes after the robbery.

According to Bourne and Pritchett, they passed an automobile with two men in it. One of the men in the front seat stepped out and asked for a match. While they were searching their pockets, the second hold-up man stepped from the car and covered them with a revolver.

They were "frisked" in an instant by the bandits.

"Don't report this to the police for a while, or we'll get you some other time," they told their victims.

The police shotgun squad searched the vicinity and followed the car containing the two hold-up suspects for several miles toward Hayward, without result.

Put Brake On Divorce Speed By Law For Bans, Says Judge

Lovers, swains, Romeos, runaway couples and gay young Lochinvars will have the quick, easy road to matrimony blocked if Judge T. W. Harris's plan to fight divorce by a law for publication of bans is successful.

In the face of the figures compiled by Wilber Walker, secretary of the Merchants' Exchange, showing that of 845 cases filed in the Superior courts here in three months 379 or 45 per cent were for divorce, Judge Harris today advocated a law which will force couples to file an application for a marriage license with the county clerk ten days before it is issued. The judge said:

"Runaways to other cities, silly couples who do not know their own minds, adventurers and impostors with some design and ill-mated men and women should be prevented from rushing into matrimony by a law which provides that notice of their application shall be published ten days prior to issuance.

NOTICE TO RELATIVES

"This would serve as an order on friends, relatives and interested parties to appear at a certain time and in a certain specified place and 'show cause' if there was any, why a marriage license should not be issued to the couple named. At the time of the application the couple should be furnished with a synopsis of the law giving the personal and property rights of married men and women. Unless both the man and the woman were willing to subscribe to and obey these laws, they would not be issued a license.

"If before the license were issued, an objection to the marriage were filed and the objection was found by the clerk to be a serious one, it would be taken before a tribunal for decision. In the meantime the license would be held up.

"Friends would thus have time to discuss the matter, the man and woman could look at it more clearly, hasty and unhappy marriages would be prevented to a large degree and presto—divorces would decrease.

"I do not propose this as a cure-all. You can't make human nature over. But such a law would be a net to catch the unwary and unwise who are sudenly swept unprepared into matrimony.

QUARREL BREEDS QUARREL

"I think there is no doubt but that an immense percentage of divorces are of people who rush into matrimony. Of course there are other reasons for divorce. Many men and women, after years together, find themselves incompatible. Quarrels breeds quarrels. After the first fight, the others come easier. To this latter class I have but one word of advice. When discord starts, sit down and talk it over. Agree to refrain from doing those things that the other feels is an invasion of his or her personal rights, or that is offensive.

"Divorce causes are not chargeable to either sex. One is just as much to blame as the other.

EDUCATION TO BDAME?

"Not only women's clubs but men's clubs as well can aid in preventing divorce by boosting for such a law as I have outlined."

Wilber Walker said today that no women's clubs in particular had taken up the divorce problem that he knew of.

"Does education educate?" is the query Walker voices after finding from statistics that a large percentage of the divorcees are products of California schools.

"We have one of the most efficient systems of education in the United states beginning with the kindergarten and culminating in the State University and still our efforts to increase human happiness seems to fail of success."

Cinema Actress, Wooed By Piedmont Flier, Dies in L. A.

Miss Lillian Beatty, known to the movie world as Miss Lillian Webster, former sweetheart of Lieutenant E. Rand Becker, of Piedmont, who died last Tuesday at the Methodist hospital in Los Angeles, following an operation, was buried there yesterday.

It was three months ago that Miss Beatty startled her friends by denouncing Becker. The lieutenant was in jail at Los Angeles for passing bogus checks. For weeks the girl had visited him daily, declaring it her intention to wait until he had served his term and then marry him.

One day she learned that another woman was coming to the jail to visit him daily. The woman was Mrs. William R. Wright, it appeared by the name she signed when she made her daily visits. Miss Beatty disappeared from the public eye, seeking solace in her work with a film corporation, where she appeared

Her friends did not know of her illness and her death was a surprise to them, according to the information reaching Oakland today.

Becker, since the girl's denouncement, has been released from jail through the efforts of his father, P. A. Becker, of 304 Pala street, Piedmont. Becker Sr. is manager of Lloyds' Insurance Agency for North and South America, with offices in San Francisco. The lieutenant was not at the funeral yesterday. His father said he was on a ranch in Northern California, where he is being kept in seclusion, one of the conditions arranged on Becker's release.

Becker was formerly a lieutenant in the Royal Flying Corps and a graduate of Stanford University. After he came back from France he The third time he got into trouble this latter let the law take its course.

Hillman Makes Denial of Wineman Charges

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10. — Claiming that no fraud had been practiced and that there had been given ample opportunity for all concerned to make a thorough investigation of values before any trade had been made, attorneys for Clarence D. Hillman of Pasadena have attacked the $1,000,000 suit brought against him by Edward Wineman and his wife, wealthy ranchers of San Luis Obispo county. Hillman urges a demurrer to the complaint and says that the Puget Sound property which Hillman gave in exchange for the Wineman's California ranch consisted of two tracts of 18,000 and 27,000 acres and were worth as much as the ranch.

The Wineman contention is that Hillman misled them by statements concerning the financial responsibility of the purchaser of timber rights on the property after the deal with Hillman had been closed.

Wool Clothing Going Higher, Say Dealers

NEW YORK, July 10.—Fine woolens not only will not be lower, but are going higher, in the opinion of E. E. Van Ingen & Co., one of the largest wholesalers of woolens in the city. This is made plain in a letter headed "Copy of a letter sent to an inquiring customer," recently sent out to the leading tailors of the city. The letter says:

"Foreign worsteds for spring will cost you from $5 to $15 per suit pattern more than you paid in the spring of 1920. Instead of such goods being more plentiful, there will be fewer of them obtainable and deliveries wil be much delayed.

"Nearly everything published in the newspapers upon this subject is apparently based upon absolute ignorance of present conditions and future probabilities.

VARSITY DRAWS ITS LINE TAUT ON SCHOLARSHIP

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, July 10.—Continuing the general policy of this university to keep the scholarship of Stanford students the highest in the West, new scholarship rules were announced this week to go into effect immediately. These regulations are more stringent than ever and prescribe a definite amount of work which must be accomplished each quarter to meet the requirements. They become tighter with each successive quarter that the student spends in the university. Students dropped from the university cannot apply for readmission for one year and during that time must have accomplished a specified amount of academic work, either at another educational institution or through a private tutor.

MORPHINE THEFT PROBE RESULT IS DUE MONDAY

With two members of the department in danger of suspension and possibly more stringent punishment, the investigation of Commissioner F. F. Morse of the disappearance of cocaine and morphine held as evidence from the police department, has been completed and the result will be made public Monday, following a scrutiny of the transcript of testimony taken during the progress of the probe in the past two weeks.

The hearing was brought to an abrupt end last evening after Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen, who was ordered restored to his post this week in an opinion of the district court of appeals, refused to testify if members of the press were excluded from the hearing, and if the facts were brought out behind closed doors. Commissioner Morse refused to open the investigation to the press representatives, with the result that Captain Petersen left the conference room without giving his testimony.

Following the completion of the hearing, Commissioner Morse declared that all of the police officers examined but two had been neliminated from responsibility, and that the two in question probably would be suspended. He declined, however, to give the names of the two under fire. In addition the department head announced that steps will be taken soon to institute new methods in the handling of evidence, as a result of the facts brought out in the probe.

LAWYER DRAWS COURT'S REBUKE

After Attorney Horace W. Philbrook had several times questioned Attorney Carl Abbott's statements during argument over Philbrook's report as to his wife's administration of the $60,000 estate of Humphrey A. Randall in the court of Superior Judge E. C. Robinson, the court intimated he would send Philbrook to jail for contempt if he persisted. Philbrook subsided.

The proceedings followed a long effort by Judge Robinson to force Philbrook to file an accounting. Mrs. Philbrook is dead. Randall was her brother. When Philbrook failed to file the report Judge Robinson ordered him to jail for contempt. He applied for a writ of habeas corpus from the appellate court which later dismissed the writ and remanded Philbrook to jail, where he wrote the report, which claimed $4000 due him from the estate.

Objection on the part of attorneys for Mrs. Anne Bates Randall, the deceased second wife, and now executrix of the estate, to the items in the account precipitated the argument.

Judge Robinson has continued the matter to July 19.

PLACES HAND ON AUTO GENERATOR AND DROPS DEAD

EL CERRITO, July 10.—Carl J. Frankman dropped dead mysteriously today while cranking his automobile. He had just placed his hand on the generator and produced a spark. It is believed that the shock was sufficient to cause an attack of heart failure. An autopsy will be held today.

The occurrence was in the yard of his home at Eureka and Elm streets, where he lived with his sister, Mrs. George W. Adams. She and another sister, Mrs. I. B. Salituri, were present. He was a carpenter, 46 years old and unmarried.

O'DOWD-ORTEGA FIGHT OFF

Referee Martin Satisfactory To Newspaper Boys

By LOU KENNEDY
(Sporting Editor Portland Telegram.)

PORTLAND, Ore., July 9.—On account of a mix-up over the referee and a guarantee which Mike O'Dowd insisted on, the ex-middleweight champion and Battling Ortega didn't [illegible] at Milwaukie.

Before O'Dowd left for Pocatello he agreed to meet Ortega in a return bout here for a guarantee of $3500 with privilege of having 25 per cent of the gross receipts. No contract was signed as Tommy Simpson was still to be heard from. Simpson later agreed to gamble, as he understood that O'Dowd was to receive the same as he was getting 25 per cent.

O'Dowd also insisted that a referee acceptable to him would be selected, which was agreed to. He came back here Tuesday and insisted that Denver Ed Martin, who refereed the other bout, be not used.

Wednesday when it was seen that on account of the hot weather and tickets not selling a conference between the matchmaker and O'Dowd was held. O'Dowd insisted on his guarantee, but it was finally decided to wait until 12 o'clock today and see what happened. Simpson was to have been here this morning, but his train was late and he didn't arrive until noon. Ortega had said that any referee would be acceptable to him.

PICKS McDONALD.

On this theory the matchmaker gave Paddy Mullins, O'Dowd's manager, a list of names of men other than Martin who had acted as referees, newspapermen were called into the conference and they all agreed that Martin was the best man available. The question wasn't settled until late this afternoon, when Mullins picked Stanley McDonald one of the men mentioned. Simpson knew nothing about it until later and would not stand for him, as he could find no one here whom he could trust who knew much about McDonald.

At the arena tonight, just before the first bout was to start Simpson held firm about the referee, and O'Dowd insisted on his guarantee. The Milwaukee Commission had already faced one loss in the former bout between the pair and with only about $4000 in the house again put the proposition of a straight percentage to O'Dowd. He wouldn't stand for it. The announcement was made that the show was off but the fans wanted to see the rest of the card. Those holding expensive seats were charged general admission prices and the four bouts were held. It was a bad mix-up with neither Simpson or O'Dowd to blame for their stands.

Paddy Mullins Talks Himself Out of Purse

Portland, Ore., July 9, 1920.
Sporting Editor TRIBUNE,
Oakland, Calif.

Fight called off after show started. O'Dowd insisted on picking the referee and also demanded a guarantee. O'Dowd did not show up to weigh in and refused to get on the scales tonight. House ran to sixty-five hundred.

TOMMY SIMPSON.

By BOB SHAND

Mike O'Dowd tried to get away with something at Milwaukie, Ore., last night but he bumped into a smart little Harp and there was no Ortega-O'Dowd fight. All O'Dowd wanted was the privilege of selecting the referee and taking what portion of the gate receipts he thought fit. That was all Mike wanted before the fight started—he probably would have wanted to do the counting and give the decision later. But Jeremiah T. Simpson, manager of Ortega, has been in this box-fighting game for a long time and he knows the tricks and angles. He offered to compromise with Paddy Mullins manager of O'Dowd, but poor Paddy is still laboring under the impression that he is managing the middleweight champion of the world and if he couldn't have his way in everything he simply would not let his fighter play with the rough Mexican from Oakland. Paddy is full of delusions and illusions regarding his fighter. Simpson is a practical man—that's the difference.

The gang had assembled and the preliminary boys were in the ring battering away when O'Dowd's manager served his ultimatum on the promoter. He was going to pick his own referee and he was going to get a big guarantee or there would be no fight. Earlier in the day Mullins showed his hand by refusing to put O'Dowd on the scales although the articles called for the men to weigh in at 165 pounds at 3 o'clock. Ortega was ready but O'Dowd did not appear. Paddy apparently made the mistake of classifying Ortega as a bush fighter and Simpson as a bush manager when as a matter of fact Ortega is probably a better fighter than O'Dowd, while there is no question about Simpson being smarter than Mullins. He proved that last night. According to reports there was a near riot when announcement was made that the fight was off. Cash customers had deposited $6500 in the box office. Eddie Shannon and Willie St. Clair boxed an eight round draw and Danny Edwards and Baby Blue stepped six even rounds. Johnny Fiske and Neil Zimmerman (remember Neil?) broke even in six session.

Otto Berg and Sudenberg to Box Main Bout

[illegible] plans and Hugh Walker refusing to box a colored boy "Smooth Tommy" Simpson's Man Friday has had a lot of trouble assembling a card for next Wednesday night. The original layout was Smith and Lee Anderson. Then Smith refused to fight. Hugh Walker was offered the Anderson match but Hugh has drawn the color line. Otto Berg and Johnny Sudenberg have been moved to the top of the card which looks fair enough as Sudenberg gave Matlock a man's sized beating across the bay last night. Wild Bill Reed and Bill Shaffer will furnish the heavyweight attraction. Here is the complete card:

Otto Berg vs. Johnny Sudenberg
Bill Shaffer vs. Bill Reed
Pickles Martin vs. Ted Meredith
Joe Leopold vs. Yg. Azevedo
Johnny Arrousez vs. Freddie Hamman
Cyclone Williams vs. Jack Allen
Mickey O'Donnell vs. Frank McCann

"Spud" Murphy Gives Tim Kelly Beating

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Tim Kelly, who has tamed a number of tough battlers around the bay, struck a snag last night when he faced Spud Murphy at Dreamland. Murphy outclassed his brawny opponent, clouting him almost as he pleased. Sal Carlo and Puck Hollev mixed it in lively fashion and the former was given the verdict.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 10.—H. Chandler Egan, Medford, Ore., and Rudolph Wilhelm, Portland, will compete today in the finals for the Pacific Northwest Golf Association amateur championship as the result of yesterday's elimination rounds in which Egan defeated Clark Speirs, Seattle, 11 up and 10 to go, and Wilhelm won from Dr. Paul Hunter, Pasadena, Cal., 2 up. [illegible] were 36 holes.

Oakland Elks Win Two Games From Santa Cruz Herd

The Oakland Elks' [illegible] Santa Cruz Saturday accepted a splendid entertainment from their Brother Bills during the evening and next two days, and then showed their brotherly love by trimming the ball club of Santa Cruz in both games. The first game (in the league schedule) was very close and exciting. Pitching honors were slightly in favor of Schammel who had his slow ball working slower than ever, and with good control Oakland's infield with Devereaux back in harness, shaped up better than at any previous game. Gerlach's playing being very classy.

Manager Biethen tried two of his young recruits in Monday's game, and all they did was to shut out their opponents without allowing a hit. Laughland showed a very deceptive change of pace and struck out eight in his five innings while Harmon broke loose with a bunch of speed and turned back four by the strikeout route. The scores:

JOHNNY NORTON AND HAROLD MULLER LEAVE FOR BOSTON

HAROLD P. "BRICK" MULLER, Oakland boy and crack University of California athlete, who is expected to win honors for the west at Olympic games.

Among the athletes who left the [illegible] Antwerp bound [illegible] were two Oakland boys who are expected to represent the United States in the Olympic games. Johnny K. Norton, who broke the world's hurdle record at Pasadena the other day, is a member of the research department of the local board of education, and Harold P. "Brick" Muller, University of California star athlete and former Tech High boy. Muller is entered in the jumps and on his present form should qualify. Both boys will represent the Olympic club which has sent the following stars to the final tryouts:

Morris M. Kirksey, 100 and 200 yards; William J. Churchill, 10,000 meters run; John K. Norton, 440-yard hurdles; Charles F. Hunter, 5000 meters run; Reg E. Caughey, shot put; George H. Bihlman, shot put and 16-pound weight throw; James McLachern, hammer throw and 56-pound weight throw; John Merchant, hammer throw and broad jump; Harold P. Muller, high jump and hop step and jump.

William J. "Bill" Churchill, winner of the 1919 TRIBUNE Marathon, is almost certain to represent America in the [illegible] Marathon, and it would occasion no surprise here if he proved the best long-distance man in the world.

TEMPLETON IGNORED

Failure of the Stanford Board of Athletic Control to appropriate funds to send "Dink" Templeton east to compete in the final Olympic Game trials may result in keeping the Cardinal champion high jumper out of the international competition at Antwerp.

In spite of the fact that Templeton holds the Pacific Coast Conference record of 6 feet 4 inches in the high jump and is rated among the four best high jumpers in the country, the Pacific Coast Athletic clubs have overlooked him in picking men to wear their colors in the final tryouts.

Provision has been made by Stanford to send Truck Hanner, the phenomenal coast javelin man, to Boston but no provision was made for Templeton, according to an announcement made by Graduate Manager W. L. Ames this morning. The Olympic Club is sending four former Stanford men east to the final Olympic trials. They are J. K. Norton who recently broke the world's 440-yard hurdle record at Pasadena; G. R. Bihlman, winner of the 16-pound shot at Pasadena, E. R. Caughey, shot put winner in the Inter-Allied Games, and Morris Kirksey, noted Cardinal sprinter.

Jess Wells, winner of the low hurdles at the I. C. 4-A meet at Philadelphia, will be sent to the trials by the Multnomah Athletic Club of Portland.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

The Bees took their third straight victory from the Angels yesterday, 11 to 0, and strengthened their hold on first place. Cullop held the Angels to six hits.

The Siwashes continued their winning streak also, chalking up their fourth win over the Oaks, 4 to 0. Gardner allowed the Oaks only two hits.

With the score two all in the eighth the Seals put over three markers and won from the Senators 5 to 3.

Finding Mitchell for 11 safe swats, the Beavers had little trouble in taming the Tigers, 3 to 1. With the exception of the second inning, when the Vernonites registered their lone tally, not one of them passed second.

As predicted in these columns last week, Manager Del Howard decided to leave Pitcher Harry Weaver with the Spokane club in the Pacific International league. Cliff Blankenship needs pitchers bad, and Harry ought to meet better success in that league than he did with the Oaks.

Billy Hollander made his debut in a "Coyote" uniform. His wild heave to first base in trying to keep Yelle from beating out an infield hit in the eighth started the Seals on their way. It was as funny watching Yelle running to third base on the wild heave as it was watching Herbie McFarlin riding his bicycle out San Pablo avenue at full speed. Maybe we can explain better by saying that Yelle went around the paths like a rooster trying to run with his legs tied.

The Coyotes were the first to score again, but the crippled Seals battled until they got the lead away from them.

Johnny Couch pitched good ball [illegible] innings and the last. Still most of the trouble in the ninth, when the bags got full was because of infield rollers being too slow to get runners at first.

Paul Fittery looked like strong medicine for the Seals in the first few innings. Joe Connolly's single that scored two runners in the eighth just about won the game for the Seals.

Carl Holling, who won two games for the Oaks last week was the one to lose for the Oaks to Seattle yesterday. The Rainiers hopped on Carl for thirteen hits. The score was 4 to 0.

Earl Baldwin's double drove home the first two runs for the Rainiers in the second inning. His infield hit in the eighth scored another for the Rainiers.

Claude Cooper got the only two hits that the Oaks made off Harry Gardner. Carl Holling made the only error for the Oaks, while the Rainiers played errorless ball behind Gardner.

Jensen Cigar Team Rolls Up Big Game

The Jensen Cigars defeated the Booth Canners 20-2. Murphy allowed only four hits, while his club gathered 20 off the combined efforts of Sanders, Pacheco and Jessie. Murphy also starred with the stick, getting two three-baggers and a pair of singles. The score:

Seals Again Keep Locals From Cellar

Four defeats in a row, but the Oaks still cling to seventh place. It took Charley Graham's bunch of crippled Seals to keep them up there by handing the Sacramento Coyotes their third straight beating at Recreation Park, yesterday afternoon. The score was 5 to 3, but the Coyotes didn't leave the field until after they gave Manager Charley Graham a great scare in the ninth inning. With the bags jammed and two runs needed to tie the score Jimmy Caveney dug Roy Grover's hot bounder out of the dirt and threw the Coyote out at first base to put an end to the game.

Manager Charley Graham is fast growing gray worrying what to do to get his club into first-class shape. It seems the more that Charley worries the more trouble he brings upon himself. In Thursday's game on the local lot, Roy Corhan tore some ligaments in his arm and there is no telling when he will get back into the regular line-up. It is sure tough on the Seals and Corhan to have the accident happen at this time, as Roy has played his best baseball of the season for the Seals in the last two weeks. His hitting has been of the unexpected kind and everybody was wondering if the Seal shortstop had become acquainted with some of the monkey glands that are supposed to make the old act young.

All yesterday morning Manager Graham, Secretary Putnam and President Doc Strub tried to locate a fast bush player to help in the infield, but the proper player was not to be found. They were after Claude Rowher, the University of California shortstop, but Claude was out of town. "Dee" Walsh, the scrappy little harp, volunteered to help Manager Graham in the pinch by going in and playing second base with a broken finger. And "Dee" certainly played a swell game. If the Seals and Oaks had a team of "Dee" Walshs and Denny Willies they would be the clubs to be fighting it out for the bunting during the final weeks of the season. There are no gamer players in the league than that pair. They are fighting all the time, and if you don't think so, ask Billy McCarthy's umpires. Life in this league would be miserable for the umps if the Seals and Oaks were made up of Denny Willies and "Dee" Walshs. Joe Connolly was again at third base as Will Kamm is still bothered with a torn nail on his finger and the Seals have no first sacker.

BUSHERS HAVE BIG SCHEDULE OF GAMES MAPPED FOR SUNDAY

Oakland and Alameda Elks to Play a League Game at Lincoln Park; Santa Clara at S. L.

The bushball fans have an attractive program for tomorrow afternoon. The University of Santa Clara ball players will invade San Leandro and be the guests of the Best Tractors. The game has been well advertised and a record crowd is looked for. The Halton-Didiers of Alameda will travel to San Rafael and tackle the Y. M. I. of that town, and the Oakland and Alameda Elks will clash in the Elks' League at Lincoln Park, Alameda. The Oakland Elks are leading the league with a record of two wins and no defeats. The Alameda boys make their league debut tomorrow.

The bush fan is a happy soul when he can look at the program and see where several good games are scheduled. If it wasn't for the lucky fact that the Santa Clara boys are coming to San Leandro, and the Elks are to make their first appearance at Alameda, it would be a dreary day for the bush fan. The Alameda park would have been deserted with the Halton-Didiers going to San Rafael, while Otto Dietrich has announced that the gates at Richmond will be closed because he will take his Elks to Stockton for a game with the Stockton Sperrys who defeated the Best Tractors in a great game last Sunday. Hollis will be on the hill for the Richmond lads, while Dietrich is undecided about his catcher, as both Charley Schwake and Cliff Cleek are on the injured list.

SAINTS HAVE STRONG LINEUP.

Santa Clara hopes to present the best baseball nine to represent the college in some time. Jack Kifer who was with the Oaks at the start of the season will play third for the Saints. "Rip" Judge, who has turned down a few contracts to play in organized ball will be in a Saint suit. Rip has several good jobs awaiting him as soon as he finishes his education. Joe Tafara, an old star of Santa Clara will be at first base. Gonzales and Joe Marks, an old battery of the Saints, will work against the Tractors.

Henie Lay and Andy Vargas will be the battery for the Tractors. It is not necessary to go into detail about the strength of the San Leandro boys, as their record for the season peaks for them.

SCHAMMEL FOR OAKLAND ELKS.

Al Schammel the Spider Baum of the bushers, will be on the hilltop for the Oakland Elks at Alameda. Al has done such a grand comeback this season that some of the other old boys are threatening to step out to a park some day and unkink their arms. Since Schammel did his comeback Artie Schimpff cannot stand out alone as the granddaddy of the bush pitchers. The way Al is fooling the boys is making all the boys open their eyes. The Oakland Elks have not lost more than a couple of games in fifteen this season. Their success is due mainly to the work of Schammel on the mound.

The Alameda lodge team leaders have not yet announced their lineup but claim it will be one to hand the Oakland boys their first beating. Two old stars of the Coast and State Leagues will be in Oakland uniforms. "Doc" Moskiman, who got jealous of Schammel's comeback and decided to try it himself will be on first base for the Oakland team. So far Doc has performed like a youngster around first, while at the plate he has proven too much of a fox for the young fellows bending them over. "Brick" Devereaux, who led the Santa Cruz team in the State League and also performed for the Oakland club, will play short for the Oakland lodge. Duffy Gerlach at third and Gallagher at second will complete the infield. Ed Whittier, Bill Reab "Snowy" Torgenson and Olson will be used in the outfield. Reab saved the game at Santa Cruz last Sunday with a great catch in centerfield in the final inning.

SHULTIS FOR CLOTHIERS.

With eight straight wins to their credit, the Halton-Didiers of Alameda figure to invade San Rafael with all kinds of ginger tomorrow, and Manager Manuel Duarte says that he will be sadly disappointed if his club doesn't return home from the Marin county town with the bacon and revenge for past defeats they received from the Y. M. I. Lane Shultis, the promising young right-hander of the Clothiers will be on the mound against the Y. M. I. while Al Ross will do the catching.

MOOSE VS. POPLARS.

The Oakland Moose will stay at their own ball yard at Emeryville tomorrow afternoon and entertain the Poplar Candy team. All the kiddies in town have been invited to attend the game without having to pay admission, and they will also be treated to candy. Charley Jensen will do the chucking for the Moose. Boegerding and George Viana will be the Poplar battery. The Candy Kids make up a nifty little amateur club and if they get by the Moose with a win they are going after the Best Tractors and Halton-Didiers.

MILLERS AT VALLEJO.

The California Cotton Mills team under the leadership of Manager Frank Cotton, will go to Vallejo tomorrow to play the Mare Island Shipbuilders in a return game at Beach Park. Manager Tom Sullivan of the Shipbuilders was so impressed with the class of ball that the Millers played on their last visit to the navy town that he requested Cotton to bring them up for another game. Also the Millers have a fine gang of rooters who made a big hit the last time and they will go along again. The Millers will have more confidence to go against the Shipbuilders than they did the first time. Their winning of two out of three games from the Reno club during the Fourth of July holidays is the reason. Frenchie or "Shorty" La Cioustra will be on the mound for the Millers, while Humphries will do the catching. Paris Buttisbach will do the chucking for the Shipbuilders. He is a wonderful little southpaw.

Following is the way the teams stand in the Bay Cities Elks' League:

	Won	Lost	Pct
Oakland	2	0	1.000
San Mateo	1	0	1.000
Alameda	0	0	.000
San Francisco	0	1	.000
Santa Cruz	0	1	.000
San Jose	0	1	.000

HOW THEY ARE HITTING IN THE OTHER LEAGUES

CHICAGO, July 10.—With a new world's record within his grasp, "Babe" Ruth, the New York slugger, today is driving towards the batting championship of the American league.

Reposing in fourth place a week ago the home run king is now second in the list of batters with an average of .386—thirty-three points behind George Sisler, the St. Louis star, who is leading the league. Ruth passed the veteran Tris Speaker of Cleveland and Joe Jackson of Chicago, who are tied for the third place honors with .385. Sisler, in first place, is batting .419.

Ruth hit another home run yesterday and connected with thirteen hits in nine games. In addition he pulled away from Speaker for scoring honors. He has crossed the plate seventy times, while the Clevelander is two runs behind him.

Rice of Washington continued to burn the paths and is far out in front among the base stealers with 35 thefts. Other leading batters are Weaver, Chicago, .363; Rice, Washington, .357; Milan, Washington, .346; Johnston, Cleveland, .344; E. Collins, Chicago, .340; Hendrix, Boston, .338; Felsch, Chicago, .334.

EYRES LEADS NATIONAL

Eyres of Boston, pitcher outfielder and pinch hitter dethroned Roger Hornsby as leader among the National league batters who have participated in forty or more games. He is batting .403 for 47 games, in which he cracked out 29 hits in 72 times at bat. Hornsby however, is the real leader among the regulars with a mark of .378 made in 73 games. Hollocher of Chicago had tied the St. Louis star as a run getter, having crossed the plate fifty times.

Cy Williams of Philadelphia delivered his weekly home run and is leading in circuit drives with nine.

Max Carey, the Pittsburgh outfielder, stole three more bases and is far in front of the base stealers with 28 thefts.

Other leading batters: E. Smith, New York, .356; Konetchy, Brooklyn, .332; Nicholson, Pittsburgh, .326; Roush, Cincinnati, .325; Williams, Philadelphia, .321; Hollocher, Chicago, .321; Daubert, Cincinnati, .321; Groh, Cincinnati, .318; Young, New York, .316; Robertson, Chicago, .315.

Ben Tincup the Indian pitcher with Louisville is so firmly entrenched in the batting leadership of the American Association that all attempts to dislodge him have been unavailing. He is setting the pace with an average of .371.

BUNNY STILL HITTING

Rapp, of St. Paul, went into a tie with Dressen, his teammate, for honors in base stealing, each having 26. Bunny Brief, of Kansas City, nosed ahead of Hargrave, St. Paul, in home run hitting, having a total of nine. The St. Paul slugger has eight. Other leading batters: Hartley, Columbus, .369; Wickland, Toledo, .357; Rapp, St. Paul, .331; Wade, Minneapolis, .325; Sweeney, Kansas City, .323; Magee, Columbus, .322; Good, Kansas City, .321; Rondeau, Minneapolis, .320; Butler, Milwaukee, .320; Dressen, St. Paul, .318.

Bogart, of Joplin, regained the batting championship of the Western league, passing Carl East, the Wichita pitcher. Bogart has an average of [illegible], while East is one point behind him. Beck, of Wichita broke the tie for honors in home run hitting, increasing his total to 14. Yaryan, his teammate, has 13.

Lee, of Omaha, the leading base stealer, is being pressed by Pitt, of Oklahoma City, and Kelleher, of St. Joseph. Lee has a string of 18 thefts, while Pitt has 17 and Kelleher 16.

Other leading batters: Yaryan, Wichita, .360; Shestak, St. Joseph, .355; Beck, Wichita, .345; Coffey, Des Moines, .344; Levivell, Omaha, .343; Pitt, Oklahoma City, .333; Platts, Omaha, .332; Crosby, St. Joseph, .333.

ANGLERS' NOOK

Belden—Best fishing of the season now.

Blairsden—Fishing and weather good. Visiting fishermen who caught the limit included Dr. McCan, R. A. Leet, C. F. Scott, Oakland. Eastern Brook Rainbow and Lock Laven. All kinds of flies. Some helgamites. Fishing is good in Feather River, Jamieson Creek, Gray Eagle, Frazier Creeks, Gold, Long, Bear, Grass, Smith's, Deer, Salmon and many more lakes. Woods are full of them.

Keddie—Fishing poor. Few small trout being caught in Spanish Creek. All kinds of flies and grasshoppers being used for bait. No large catches made.

Pulga—Conditions not very favorable past week owing to low water in Feather River. Flea Valley Creek water clean. Grasshoppers and helgamites principally used for bait. Reports from Tobin and Camp Rogers some very fair catches made at these points.

Portola—Fishing good and weather favorable. Royal Cochman, Brown Hackle most successful bait used. Fishing good in Feather River, Grizzly Creek and Gold Lake.

Spring Garden—Water low. Bait, assortment of flies. Not many fish caught past week.

Paxton—Fishing poor past week. One so-called expert claims this on account of being in the "light of the moon," claiming that fish feed at night and will not bite in the daytime. Must be something to it. Very few moving from the lake showing unfavorable conditions there.

NEURITIS, RHEUMATISM AND INFLAMMATION OF THE NERVES. STOMACH TROUBLE RELIEVED. THE FOLLOWING TESTIMONIAL PROVES.

Oakland, March 3, 1919
I suffered from neuritis (inflammation of the nerves) in the back of my head extending upward from the spine. It was so painful I almost lost consciousness and was unable to work for months. I also have rheumatism in my joints for years.
Having tried many doctors and treatments without results, I did not know what to do. My friend, Mr. Wettrig, the shoe merchant at 482 Seventh street, Oakland, who had been cured of stomach trouble and constipation by drinking Fong Wan Herb Tea, urged me to try it. Now after having drunk the herb tea for three weeks, I am perfectly well, far better than I have been for years.

LIVER ILLS CURED BY SING HERBS

Jaundice, caused by inflammation of the liver, is relieved by Sing Herbs, which reduce the swollen condition of the bile ducts by cleansing the blood and healing the inflamed tissues.
They also remove the unsightly external evidences of the disease by purifying the blood, restoring the skin to a healthy color and returning the digestion to normal. Other similar organic ills are treated in a like fashion, the theory of the Sing Herb Specialists' treatments being the elimination of the poisonous secretions which cause them.

Spice Packages Sold Unlabeled, Is Charge

MARYSVILLE, Calif., July 10.—P. P. Jennings, deputy State scaler of weights and measures, today swore to a complaint charging the J. A. Folger Company and the S. H. Tyler Company, San Francisco spice packers, with violating the United States standard container law.

Packages sold by the concerns to local wholesalers bore no labels indicating the quality or quantity of the spices they contain, Jenning asserts.

'STATE NEWS'

MARYSVILLE, July 10.—Watched by his wife and two infant sons who paced the bank unable to help him, Henry Calvin, business man of Butte county, sank to his death while attempting to swim the Feather river.

After the drowning of her husband Mrs. Calvin was forced to row six miles with her two children to give notice of the tragedy. The Calvins had gone up the river in a skiff and stopped at an unfrequented spot for a picnic. Calvin went in bathing and was seized with cramps. His wife and children cried repeatedly for help until he sank for the third time.

Half crazed by the tragedy, Mrs. Calvin put her two children in the boat and started back to Marysville. After telling her story she collapsed and is in a serious condition.

CAMP CURRY, Yosemite Valley, July 10.—A reward of $100 was offered today for the recovery of the body of Gertrude Kistler, 12-year-old daughter of Sedgwick Kistler of Lockhaven, Pa., who was drowned in the Merced river here on July 7. The reward was offered by friends of the child's parents.

Search for the body still was progressing today. Several members of the San Mateo union school band, which has been playing here for the last week, have made up a searching party and are aiding the National park rangers in their endeavors to find the body. Both sides of the river for the length of the valley are being combed by the searchers.

SINGER'S SON IN NAVY

SAN DIEGO, July 10.—George W. Schumann-Heink, youngest son of Madame Schumann-Heink, California's famous grand opera singer, re-enlisted in the United States navy here today. He will be stationed aboard the destroyer Sinclair, based at this port.

George was the first of the male members of the Schumann-Heink family to answer the call to the colors at the outbreak of the war with Germany. His career in the navy during the war was a thrilling one. He was a member of the gun crew of the troopship Tenadores when that vessel ran ashore and was wrecked on the north shore of Belle isle, south of St. Nazaire, France. Young Schumann-Heink remained on the doomed troopship three days, finally being rescued by a mine sweeper. He later was transferred to the armored cruiser Seattle, and made twelve convoy trips through the submarine zone on that vessel. At that time Schumann-Heink literally was standing at his gun waiting to fight his own brothers, as two of them were serving on German submarines in the North sea during the greater part of the war.

AGED MAN RUN DOWN

SAN RAFAEL, July 10.—Josiah F. Prescott, an aged photographer, was seriously injured when he was struck and knocked down by a machine driven by Charles Freitas, son of M. T. Freitas, president of the Bank of San Rafael. Suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and unconscious, Prescott was removed to the county emergency hospital.

The accident occurred on the outskirts of San Anselmo as young Freitas and his father, who was riding with him, were on their way to the southern part of the county. They took Prescott to the hospital in their machine.

BALLOONS SCARE BIRDS

NEVADA CITY, July 10.—Paper balloons are used effectively by an amateur gardener of Nevada City to protect his garden from birds. The balloons are anchored at intervals over the garden and allowed to sway in the wind. While calmly ignoring the ordinary scarecrows, the birds appear to stand in awe of the balloons.

FIREMAN'S BODY FOUND

FRESNO, July 10.—The body of John Survera, a fireman for the Shell Oil company, who disappeared Tuesday night while on a fishing trip at Mendota, was found in the San Joaquin river below the Mendota dam today. Survera was last seen as he was walking across the weir below the dam about 9 o'clock Tuesday night. Officers believe that he succumbed to a fainting spell while balancing on the weir.

REDWOOD CITY, July 10.—The supervisors today asked District Attorney Franklin Swart to investigate a report by Traffic Officer James B. Dalziel that the San Mateo police had released two men who had been driving an automobile while intoxicated and who had caused a serious accident on the highway on May 30. According to Dalziel, both men were given their liberty without charges being preferred against them after they had been taken into custody at the Red Cross hospital.

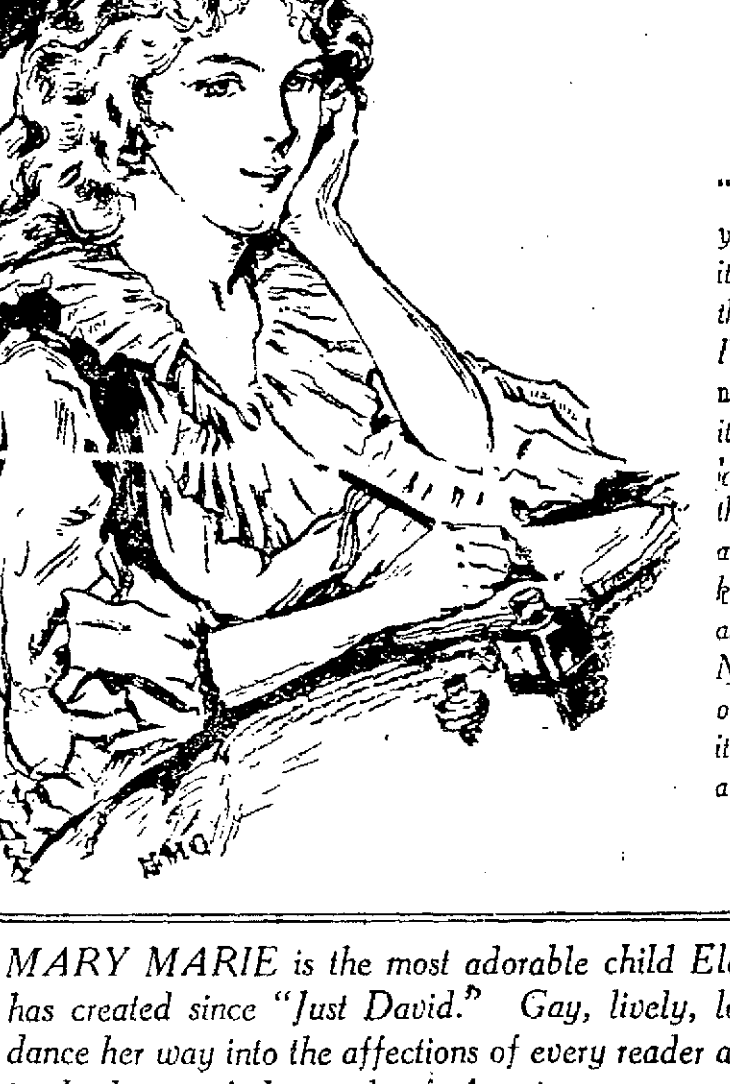

Chief of Police Thomas Burke of San Mateo claims that the offense was committed beyond the jurisdiction of his department.

BARLEY LOST IN FIRE

MODESTO, July 10.—George H. Crooks lost 2000 sacks of barley by fire on his ranch. The grain was valued at $6000. It was his entire crop. The blaze started from a stubble fire which burned so rapidly that it could not be stopped before it reached the big stack containing the barley.

"Mary Marie," Eleanor H. Porter's new novel, starts in The TRIBUNE Sunday.

Mary Marie

the sunbeam girl, says:

"Really, you know, when you come right down to it, there aren't many girls that have got the chance I've got. And so that's why I've decided to write it into a book. Oh, yes, I know I'm young—only thirteen. But I feel really awfully old; and you know a woman is as old as she feels. Besides, Nurse Sarah says I am old for my age, and that it's no wonder, the kind of a life I've lived."

MARY MARIE is the most adorable child Eleanor H. Porter has created since "Just David." Gay, lively, lovable, she will dance her way into the affections of every reader and leave a glow in the hearts of thousands of American grown-ups and children.

SOME PUBLISHERS refer advertisers to "Government Statements" of circulation.

They mean THEIR statements TO the Government, which is a very different thing.

The Government does not make any statements in regard to circulation.

Statements to the Government, in the absence of verification, are valueless to the advertiser.

There is one method and only one of ascertaining the facts regarding the circulation of a paper.

And this is by referring to the reports of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

A publication that quotes its statement to the Government in lieu of an A. B. C. report is evading the issue.

The Waterfront

Word has been received here today of the death of Capt. Fred Harriman, at Jacksonville, Fla. Harriman was master of steamers out of this port for many years and comes from a sea-going family. His father Capt. Al Harriman, one of the old-time square-rigged deep water skippers, died a few years ago at a ripe old age. Fred was master and pilot of vessels on the Alaska run for many years, and during the war commanded vessels of the United States Shipping Board, and his last command was the steamer Beer Lodge, which he had just brought to Jacksonville from this port. Harriman was born in this city.

Seven steamers, with a total of 3,505,000 feet of lumber, reached port the past day. The steamer C. A. Smith broke the record by arriving [illegible] from Coos Bay with 1,425,000 feet of lumber, and at 9:30 o'clock last night she passed out of the Golden Gate on her way back to Coos Bay for another cargo, which shows that Captain Olson and his crew did not lose any time while discharging. Olson has commanded the steamer C. A. Smith since she was built, and has delivered more lumber to Oakland harbor during the past year than any other three craft. The vessel is owned and operated by the C. A. Smith Lumber Company of Oakland, which has a mill and camps at Coos Bay, Ore.

The steam schooner Arctic arrived here late yesterday afternoon from Fort Bragg with a lumber cargo and stopped at Drakes bay on her way down the coast to pull the gasoline schooner Coquille off the beach, and brought her to Oakland, where she will be placed on Hanlon's drydock for repairs. A week ago the Coquille, under command of Capt. Jacobsen, left here for Fort Bragg, but struck a rock on the Mendocino coast and began to leak. The vessel was then headed for the Golden Gate, but was making too much water, and the skipper put into Drakes bay and ran the craft on the beach to prevent her from sinking. The Coquille is owned by the Union Lumber Company.

Captain E. D. Parsons died this morning at Portland, Ore. For many years he was master of vessels owned by the Pacific Coast Steamship Company out of this port, and for the past few years has been bar pilot on the Columbia river, and acted as manager of that association. He was born in Massachusetts and was 48 years of age.

The steam schooner G. C. Lindauer is due to arrive here today from Marshfield, Ore., with telegraph poles and white cedar cants, which will be unloaded at East Oakland. During the past few weeks several cargoes of telegraph poles have been unloaded here from different vessels, and are loaded on flat cars and sent to interior cities.

Berkeley Business Active This Week

Business was active in Berkeley during the week ending Thursday, according to the weekly business summary of the First National Bank of Berkeley. Evidence of business activity is shown primarily by a big increase in bank clearings over the previous week, together with reports from the retail trade. There was a slight falling off in building permits. However, the past week was marked by the completion of a number of dwellings and permits were issued for $14,700 in new structures, and $7,125 for miscellaneous building. The largest building item for the week was the issuance of a permit for the erection of a $10,000 apartment house on College avenue.
Bank clearings for the week totaled $2,822,157.85, an increase of $687,796.52 over the previous week, and $315,769.91, or 12 per cent more than the corresponding week a year ago.
Realty dealers, according to the summary, report a continued demand for rent houses, and numerous sales in the residential districts. An average of one apartment house a week is being erected in Berkeley, which, even with the large number of single dwellings and flats that are being completed each week, fails to keep up with the extraordinary demand.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, July 10.—Heavy buying of cotton at the opening of the market today followed the announcement that the National Ginners Association had put the condition of crop at 72.1 which indicated an increase of 1.3 over the last figures of the government.
The market was heavily oversold as the result of the recent bearish predictions as to what the national ginners' figures would be and advanced rapidly on the large purchasing by three or four brokers supposed to represent Wall Street houses. In fact the initial call was the most active for weeks, prices showing an advance of 87 points. Later there was a little reaction from the opening but the undertone remained firm helped by reports of rain in the southwest.
The close was steady at a net advance of 10 to 12 points.

A large area of high pressure overlies the country east of the Rocky Mountains and has given rain in the Mississippi Valley and fair weather in other sections. It is warmer in Montana.
Conditions are favorable for fair weather in this district tonight and Sunday, except cloudy or foggy near the coast.

OILS AND RUBBER UP; TEXTILES AND RAILS TUMBLE

NEW YORK, July 10.—Speculative favorites were again in the foreground at the opening of today's short stock market session. Houston oil, yesterday's spectacular feature, rose three points and advances of 1 to 2 points marked the early trading in Vanadium Steel, Stromberg Carburetor, National Aniline and U. S. Rubber. Unfavorable conditions in the textile trade probably accounted for the pressure against American Woolen, which soon forfeited three points. Union Pacific, Norfolk and Western, Baldwin Locomotive, Studebaker, Retail Stores and Republican Iron were fractionally lower.
Final Liberty bond prices today were: 3½s 91.14; first 4s 86.10; second 4s 85.56; first 4¼s 86.10; second 4¼s 85.74; third 4¼s 89.70; fourth 4¼s 85.96; Victory 3¾s 95.98; Victory 4¾s 96.00.

Woman's Slayer When Trapped by Posse Ends Life

SAN JOSE, July 10.—Enraged because Mrs. Negron Placida, mother of four children, would not flee with him, Manuel Colon, ranch worker, late last night shot and killed the woman. Fleeing from the scene and closely pursued by posses sent by Sheriff [illegible], Colon shot himself behind a clump of bushes and fired a bullet into his own brain, ending his life. His body was found early today by the deputies.

According to Joe Bellew, owner of the Boots' ranch, where the murder of the woman occurred, she was deserted by her husband some years ago and then became acquainted with Colon.

Last night he appeared at the ranch and was seen by Bellew, who ordered him to leave. Later however, he returned, forced his way into the house and shot the woman. Ranch hands rushed to the house, but, threatening them with his gun, Colon made a break for liberty.

WORRY IS A DISEASE

The disorder which causes its victims to worry whether they have anything to worry about or not is neurasthenia.

Neurasthenia is entirely distinct from hysteria although the patient may have both diseases at the same time.

Neurasthenia often results from some nervous shock, such as the loss of a near relative, overwork or some severe overtaxing on the nervous system. The patient is usually pale showing that the blood is thin, and the first thing to do is to build up the blood because anything that builds up the general health helps to correct the neurasthenic condition. Rest and a good tonic are the very best treatment in most cases.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an ideal tonic for this condition because they are non-alcoholic and neurasthenic patients should avoid alcoholic stimulants.

The Dr. Williams Medicine Co. Schenectady, N. Y., has published a little book on nervous disorders that contains a chapter on neurasthenia, in which the symptoms are fully described and the correct treatment given. The booklet is free on request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price 50 cents per box.—Advertisement.

Solons Ready For Quiz On State's Japanese Problems

SACRAMENTO, July 10.—Congressman Albert Johnson, Washington, chairman; Congressman Walter N. Vaile, Colorado, and John E. Raker of California, members of the Congressional committee on Immigration and Navigation, conferred today with Governor W. D. Stephens preliminary to the investigation into the Japanese question which they plan to begin Monday here, with hearings.

They were presented with copies of the report of the Board of Control, made to the Governor on the Japanese problem.

The Governor gave out a letter, which he wrote to Congressman Horace Knutsen, a member of the committee, last November, urging the committee to visit California and get first-hand information on the subject of Japanese encroachment.

The committeemen after an informal talk with the Governor, expect to return to San Francisco tonight. Chairman Johnson said the committee will visit every section of the state where the oriental problem is acute including the rice, berry and fruit districts of the Sacramento valley.

SEES DANGER IN QUESTION

In presenting the report of the Board of Control to the committee, Governor Stephens handed them a written statement, explaining how the report was drafted in which he said:

"The State of California rejoices at your visit here and at the opportunity thus accorded to us of presenting this problem to you in the different forms in which it exists. We feel a sense of future danger here, which cannot be felt as yet in other parts of the country removed from immediate contact, but a convincing picture of which, we feel sanguine, we can present through you in the spirit of fairness and tolerance to the rest of the United States."

Reference was made to the picture-bride situation at the conference and Congressman Raker said he had received information that a steamer carrying fifty picture-brides is due to arrive in San Francisco from Japan on July 16, in spite of Japan's agreement that no more would be allowed to come to California after February 28.

LETTER TO KNUTSEN

Governor Stephens' letter to Knutsen follows:

"My dear Mr. Knutsen: I was indeed glad to receive your letter, which indicates an active interest in and an understanding of the Japanese question. I earnestly hope that you will be successful in having a sub-committee of the Senate and House immigration committees visit the Pacific Coast so that information may be gained first hand as to the serious situation that exists. The greatest difficulty that confronts us in solving this question is the lack of knowledge and appreciation by the Nation as a whole of the grave menace that the Japanese are because of their remarkable capacity. The duty devolving upon us is to preserve this part of the country for American citizens.

"The sentiment of California is practically unanimous that further steps than those already taken must be enforced in to curb the rapid progress the Japanese are making within our State. There has been considerable demand that I should call a special session of the Legislature for immediate action. I have refused thus far for two reasons—one is that some months ago I instituted a thorough investigation which is now in progress, but not yet completed, to gain definite and specific information for the guidance of our Legislature and also for an effective presentation of California's case to the entire Nation; and the second is that I have felt it my patriotic duty in the general unrest and the unsettled international conditions not to contribute, at this particular time, another disturbing factor. My position is that soon, but at the proper time, we must resume our efforts to solve the problem.

POLITICS CRITICISED

"A broad and intelligent handling of this question has been complicated by those who have been agitating it for selfish political purposes. This handicaps us in enlisting support in other states and also in getting our case fairly before the National Government. So far as lies in my power, I shall endeavor to eliminate this very harmful feature in California's efforts to bring about a solution of the question. I am resolved to deal with it in a way that looks only to the best interest of our state and our country.

"Some few years ago legislation was enacted in this state prohibiting aliens not eligible to citizenship from owning farm lands. Provision was made for leases in three year periods. The Japanese have to some extent circumvented the statute against land ownership by the promotion of corporations in which it is required that a majority of the stock shall be held by persons holding citizenship or eligible therefor. A dummy director is made to fulfill this requirement. Guardianship of native born Japanese children is another favorite resort. Considerable holdings are now in the hands of Japanese, acquired through the circumvention I have described.

"What has become the most acute condition is the leasing of farms by the Japanese. In the last few years there has been a tremendous development along this line. Some of the most fertile districts of the state are coming under the complete control of the Japanese through leases. The shortage of labor supply, intensified during the war, is in a large measure responsible for the remarkable expansion of leasing that we have experienced.

PROHIBITS LEASING

"In brief I can state that the proposed additional legislation is to prohibit the leasing of lands to Japanese, to prohibit their ownership through corporations and through guardian of native-born children, and so to amend our marriage laws as to put a stop to the picture-bride method. But state and national governments should act at the proper time to prevent the growth of this menacing condition.

"Of course the international phase will immediately arise, and I want to assure you that I shall give all due regard posible to this important consideration. However, an intolerable condition is arising not only in California, but in other Pacific Coast states, and there must be a firm stand somewhere at some time to meet it."

WIFE ASKS $75, MAN GETS $100

Superior Judge T. W. Harris virtually threw up his hands in astonishment when Mrs. Ethel V. Hawkinson, formerly Miss Ethel Garne, appeared in his court asking for $75 a month alimony from Walter D. Hawkinson, with whom she lived only four months before suing for divorce. Hawkinson earns $100 a month.

"I have known one or two instances where considerable alimony was demanded after only a few days or weeks of married life," said Judge Harris, "but I must confess it is rather an unusual proceeding. I note with satisfaction that the plaintiff is willing to allow her husband $25 a month to live on."

Mrs. Hawkinson was allowed $20 a month temporarily. She charges that when her husband's mother invited them to Thanksgiving dinner he refused to go and told his wife to prepare dinner at home, then slipped out quietly and went to his mother's until midnight. She adds that he frequently left her alone until midnight while he visited dance halls, told her there were plenty of girls as good as she and advised her to go home to her parents saying he cared for her no more.

Accident Near When Destroyer Launched

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Few in the crowd of naval officers and their wives who attended the launching of the hull of the destroyer Mallory at the Union yards of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation yesterday afternoon realized how close they had been to witnessing a serious accident. The lower end of the cradle gave way just as the vessel struck the water. Had the piling collapsed a moment sooner it is said the hull would have been thrown to one side and a number of persons would have been killed. Miss Alice Hall, daughter of Gen. E. F. Hall, was sponsor for the vessel.

Form No. 1977 and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned.

WHOLESALE MILK PRICE GOES UP

Whether the raise in the price of milk from 35 cents to 40 cents a gallon, meaning an advance of from 3 to 4 cents a quart after August 1 in San Francisco, will also apply to Oakland and other Eastbay cities, the local association was unable to say today.

The San Francisco Milk Producers' association has just announced the increase in prices, saying it is due to the advances in the price of alfalfa and increased cost of labor.

The present retail price of milk is 15 cents. A 2-cent raise to meet the advanced wholesale cost would bring this to 17 cents.

The headquarters of the Oakland office of the Milk Producers' association gave out the following statement:

"Decisions on raises in the price of milk are made at the main office in Modesto and given out through the president, H. E. Watson.

"We have not as yet announced a raise in the price of milk, which now sells for 35 cents a gallon wholesale, or 15 cents a quart retail. We are not in a position to say whether the price to Alameda county cities will be increased."

The producers in explaining the increase in prices claim that the cows now used do not provide a legitimate revenue. Milkers receive $120 a month and found and alfalfa costs $35 a ton, leaving only a small margin over expenses.

Mrs. Robert A. Dorn, president of the San Francisco Housewives' league, has appointed a committee to probe price increases.

SEVEN FIREMEN HURT IN FRESNO; BIG STORE BURNS

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

FRESNO, July 10.—Seven firemen were injured and $150,000 damage was done by a fire which destroyed the Brooks furniture store and building on the 900 block on J street, between Kern and Tulare streets, here, beginning at 10:30 last night and continuing until 1:30 this morning. At the latter hour the fire was got under control. Three or four of the firemen are seriously hurt. The origin of the fire has not been determined.

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., July 10.—A business block in the center of Taft, 40 miles southwest of Bakersfield, was destroyed by fire early last night. One man lost his life in the fire. His name was not learned. A high wind impeded the work of the firemen. The loss will reach $50,000. The buildings were mostly wooden.

HORNE IN JAIL, CAN'T GIVE BAIL

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10. — "Blighted love" claims William Templeton Horne in his cell at the city jail, where he is held on a charge of embezzlement. "Dishonest business," declares Mrs. Margaret Le Prevost, 701 Post street, who caused Horne's arrest, charging he embezzled $1,500 in cash and $5,000 in jewels from her.

Horne says he was engaged to Mrs. Le Prevost providing she obtained a divorce from her husband who was in France.

During his alleged courtship of Mrs. Le Prevost, he claims she gave him the money and jewelry to go to Washington and intercede for the International Bible Students who were refusing to join in the war. He claims he finally deposited the valuables in a New York vault where they now are.

Mrs. Le Prevost declares Horne's statements to "be an absolute falsehood." She ridicules the idea that they were ever engaged or that there was any love affair between them. It was a matter of business, according to her statements, and the reason that she trusted him so implicitly was that they belonged to the same religious creed.

Although Horne claimed he is heavily interested in busines in Oakland, he has not been able so far to supply the $10,000 bail. His bride, formerly Miss Brenda Ellen Thompson, niece of an automobile magnate of Sydney, is remaining loyal to her husband.

DARLING HUSKIES MAY LEAD RACE TO SOUTH POLE

Word that a new expedition into the Antarctic is being planned, was brought to Berkeley today with the receipt of a letter by C. E. Darling, breeder of Alaskan dogs, from Captain G. H. Wilkins, leader of the proposed enterprise. Wilkins has asked the Berkeley man to furnish him with nine dogs to be used on the southern expedition.

According to the information received by Darling, the trip will have as its objects the ascertaining of the location of mineral lands, study of the migrations of whales, investigation of meteorological and magnetic conditions in the Ross Sea areas and at Cape Ann, and an extension of the general knowledge of the Antarctic.

Wilkins was second in command and chief scientist of the Stefansson Canadian Arctic expedition. Darling, now in business in Berkeley, spent eighteen years in Alaska, wher with A. A. Allan he developed the Alaska dog with which Allan four times won the great Nome sweepstakes races.

Diplomats Give Warning Against Shelling Peking

PEKING, July 9 (by the Associated Press).—Warning has been given the government by the diplomatic corps here that in case of an uprising there must be no fighting in this city and that it must not be subject to bombardment. Forces commanded by Tuan Chi Jui, former premier and minister of war, are surrounding Peking.

General Wu Pei Fu, who has been relieved of the command of government troops in Chi Li, is near Pao Ting Fu, 80 miles south of here, but whether fighting occurs there will depend, it is said, upon the acceptance by Wu Pei Fu of his dismissal.

General Tuan Jui's threatening attitude is a result of the government's dismissal of General Cheng as resident commissioner for inner Mongolia. He is a leader of the Anfu element, which received a defeat when the appointment of Chow Shum to the premiership was announced.

Wild Report of Fire Hurts Oxygen Firm

Because certain customers of the Burdett Oxygen Company have been misled by reports that an explosion had wrecked their plant, the company today issued a statement that the recent fire there was not caused by an explosion and did not occasion any property damage. According to D. H. Will, manager, hydrogen gas, escaping from a valve on a tank, was ignited by an electric coal nearby and continued to burn until all the gas in the tank was consumed. Persons in the neighborhood saw the gas burning and turned in an alarm of fire.

First National Stars' Names Expected

With Eugene L. Perry, manager of the T. and D. Theater, ready to leave for the south, definite progress in plans for the monster First National Day here July 26 is taking shape.

Perry leaves Monday for Los Angeles to meet all the First National screen stars—and by First National screen celebrities is meant the cream of the world. By early next week the names of the stars who will come to Oakland for the big day will be known. It is confidently expected by Perry that they will include Norma and Constance Talmadge, Anita Stewart, Katherine MacDonald, and comedians embracing Fatty Arbuckle, Al St. John and Harold Lloyd.

Plans for the big parade, burlesque ball game, field day and reception at the T. and D. Theater, which is to be given to the public free, now assure the biggest day held in Oakland in years.—Advertisement.

Four Arrested, Much Liquor Taken, in Prohibition Raid

Activities of a ring of bootleggers who have been operating in both San Francisco and Oakland as well as other Eastbay cities, have been uncovered with the arrest of Frank J. Fields, 1533 San Pablo avenue, and by a raid last night on the third floor of the American Hotel at Second and Webster streets, and the subsequent arrest of George Lester, Fred Farrier and F. A. Beach.

The raid on the American Hotel was conducted by Inspectors William F. Kyle, Arthur Sanderson and Patrolman Edward Robinson. A water-cooled copper still with a capacity of fifty gallons of liquor was seized. The police believe the ring of illicit liquor manufacturers controlled several stills, three of them having been captured recently.

Lester told the police he resided in San Francisco. Farrier and Beach both resided at the hotel where the raid was conducted.

As the trio were being taken to the City Hall to be booked on a charge of violating the national prohibition act, Beach attacked Farrier in the police automobile after accusing the latter of furnishing the police with the information which led to the raid. Before the officers could overpower Beach he struck Farrier several times on the head with the handcuffs which encircled his wrists. Farrier was later treated for cuts and bruises at the emergency hospital.

500 GALLONS SEIZED

Approximately 500 gallons of liquor was found in barrels in a room adjoining the still. The police say this is the most important catch made in Oakland since the prohibition law went into effect.

This morning the three men were taken to San Francisco to face trial before Commissioner Francis Krull. A fourth man suspect is at large.

According to Frank Fields, he was approached at Sixteenth street and San Pablo avenue by Blind Jim Osborne and asked if he wanted to make a piece of change driving a car to San Francisco and back. He was told, he claims, that he would find money in a door pocket of the car as payment for his work. He was also told that a man would meet him on the San Francisco side.

GUIDED BY COLORED MAN

As he drove off the boat in San Francisco, a colored man stepped onto the running board of the car and directed him to an address in the Mission, where Joseph Fredotovich, 718 Chester street, met them. He said he was directed to take a walk and return in an hour. When he came back he was directed to drive the car to Oakland. When he arrived in Oakland in front of 1963 Webster street, he said, Fredotovich took two suit cases from the car and started across the alleyway.

Patrolman W. H. Hughes observed the actions of the two men. He approached, placed Fields under arrest and locked him to the steering wheel with the handcuffs. He then set out after Fredotovich, but the latter escaped.

Fields will be turned over to the federal authorities with the large touring car. The car is said to be the property of Fredotovich.

Officers working under the direction of Collector of Internal Revenue Justus Wardell are today investigating the mysterious disappearance of eight barrels of brandy worth $10,000 from the Haslett company's bonded warehouse in San Francisco, which was reported late yesterday.

The liquor theft was made in spite of day and night guards stationed at the warehouse. A steel door had apparently been removed from its hinges though government seals were not broken.

Wardell will today summon all operatives who have been engaged in guarding bonded liquors in an attempt to solve the mystery, he said.

Olney and Sloane to Have No Opposition

Judges Warren Olney Jr. and W. A. Sloane, justices of the Supreme Court, who are candidates for re-election, will have no opposition from the northern end of the state, according to present indications. It is probable that the south will contest for one of the seats and that Judge John M. York will announce himself as an aspirant within a few days. Frank M. Murasky of San Francisco, who has said that he was to be a candidate, has not filed his declaration.

In San Francisco Judge Barnard J. Flood is a candidate to succeed himself to the Superior bench. Assistant City Attorney Daniel J. O'Brien is circulating nominating petitions for the same office. It has been reported that Judge J. J. Hunt is planning to retire although no confirmation of this has been forthcoming. He is out of the city at present.

$30,000 STOLEN FROM ALLEGED NARCOTIC DEALER

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—New developments in the narcotic inquiry, which make relatively insignificant the indictment of two operatives of the State Pharmacy Board, include the reported uncovering of evidence to connect a notorious chief of drug traffickers with recent revelations in this city, and point to the mysterious disappearance of $12,500 worth of narcotics.

That "Heinie Hunter," alleged drug-ring leader, was a recent visitor to San Francisco and that while he was here he was robbed of more than $30,000 is a story given out. Another is that the cache of drugs at 1935 Ellis street, which Emile E. Coret and John DeVries, the indicted operkatives, raided on the night of May 10, was half of the drugs taken from Hunter shortly after his arrival here. Sam Morlen, aided by two men in official positions, is said to have taken these drugs.

A half dozen queer angles to the case have developed almost over night until the prosecuting attorney, Isadore M. Golden, is convinced that the investigation has turned into one of the most far-reaching and sensational in Pacific Coast criminal history.

De Vries, Coret, and Mae Anderson are jointly charged with the larceny of 10,000 heroin pills, all the property of Morlen. De Vries, in addition, is indicted on a charge of perjury in connection with his testimony before the grand jury. The case of Morlen, charged with having the drugs in his possession, will come up Wednesday. It is said that action toward the suspension of the indicted operatives will be taken at a meeting of the board of pharmacy in Los Angeles on Monday.
